Ohio House Passes Home-Heating Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A long-debated measure to help elderly and disabled with home heating bills has cleared the Ohio House and gone to the Senate where final approval is expected next week.

Unlike the furor caused when Republicans killed it July 5, Rep. Dennis Eckart's revamped measure had 77-16 bipartisan support Thursday and the debate was comparatively brief, before the Senate and House headed home for the weekend.

Senators approved 28-2 and sent the House a bill that seeks to encourage electrical utilities to burn Ohio's high sulfur coal, and at the same time beef up powers of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency to enforce air pollution standards.

The bill, with strong backing from the Ohio Mining and Reclamation Association, encourages the use of Ohio coal by allowing seven per cent credit against a utility's excise tax, or a corporation's franchise tax, for installation of so-called fluidized beds, scrubbers, and other antipollution equipment.

Ohio's coal, at about $20 a ton, is half the price of low sulfur coal many utilities now bring in from the western U.S., with the added costs being passed along to electrical utility consumers.

Weather

A high pressure system moving southeast across Ohio will bring cool and dry weather to the county. Partly cloudy and a little cooler today with a high near 80, clear and cool tonight with a low near 60, and mostly sunny and warm Saturday with a high near 85. There is little chance of rain during the period. Temperature extremes Thursday were 91 and 67.

Sen. Kinsey Milleson, D-30 Freeport, said Ohio's own coal is a valuable resource that must be used. He said his bill is essential to "an energy policy which recognizes that Ohio cannot continue to depend on natural gas and fuel oil."

Eckart, D-18 Euclid, garnered some GOP support for his "lifeline" utility bill after yielding to their July 5 demands that it be first studied by the House Finance Committee. The committee changed little of it, however, before recommending approval earlier this week.

It provides 25 per cent discounts on heating bills for all Ohio householders 65 and over, along with the totally disabled, in the months of November through March. They will be told where and when to apply in literature to be included in monthly bills between now and Aug. 15, if the Senate approves the bill in its present form.

Elderly and disabled householders who use propane gas, coal, wood or other fuels to heat their homes will get a flat $87.50 subsidy to help pay their bills during the winter season.

Several unsuccessful GOP amendments stirred brief House debate, chiefly one by Rep. William G. Batchelder, R-93 Medina, who charged that Eckart's bill was "funded with mirrors."

His amendment would have scrapped Eckart's plan to rearrange utility excise tax collections in the current biennium, for a one-time pickup of $92 million, and produced that amount with a one per cent spending cut among most state agencies.

Batchelder noted that the legislature will have no way to fund the program in the next biennium, but said it would be impossible politically to let it drop. "There will have to be an increase in taxes to keep it going," he predicted.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Refugees and a volunteer army battling mud and fatigue have found 46 dead in this flood-ravaged city. Dozens are missing, and damage is put at more than $200 million.

On Thursday, bodies were pulled from bashed houses and twisted rubble littering the scarred seven-county flood area in southwestern Pennsylvania.

"We're expecting more bodies," said deputy Cambria County coroner Arthur Keiper from his makeshift morgue in the East Hills Elementary School near here. Officials said they had no way yet to accurately guess how many might be dead.

Scattered looting was reported throughout the area, and some residents armed themselves to protect what little they had left. Police arrested three men ransacking a Johnstown bar Thursday night.

Half an inch of fresh rain belted this devastated city of 41,000 Thursday afternoon, briefly raising fears of another deluge, before tapering off to a steady drizzle.

"Oh, my God, were people concerned," said county Civil Defense director Elmer Shenk. "It looked like a major storm, and that's all we would have needed."

The city was evacuated shortly before the storm, which set off mudslides in several areas. Winds up to 65 miles an hour whipped up caked mud, cutting visibility to 100 yards.

The National Weather Service forecast good weather for the weekend, however, giving cleanup crews hope that they would be able to resume work in earnest.

creates the mess a flood creates," said Jack Minnotte, chief of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' engineering division assigned here.

The Corps said damage in Johnstown alone would exceed $117 million. "Had we not built the flood control project in Johnstown after the 1936 flood, those damages today would be $465 million," said Herman Lardieri, a flood plain management expert.

President Carter declared the region a federal disaster area on Thursday and dispatched special assistant Greg Schneiders to serve, as Schneiders described it, as the President's "eyes and ears."

Richard Sanderson, staff director from the Federal Disaster Assistance

Administration, was assigned to coordinate federal relief efforts.

He told reporters he plans to set up one-stop relief centers where victims can take care of all their flood-related problems at one time.

An estimated 50,000 persons were displaced when torrential rains pushed mountain rivers and streams over their banks along a 70-mile stretch of the Conemaugh River valley.

College dormitories and school buildings were converted to makeshift shelters, but many survivors simply packed what few belongings they could find and pulled out.

"The family won't be able to come back, not with the stink," said George Finley, 55, a welfare father of five, whose trailer home in nearby Huff was washed away.

"What are you supposed to do when you lose everything and you didn't have nothing to start with?" asked his wife Alberta as she packed the children in an old blue station wagon for the ride to a friend's home.

While some people packed, state troopers used billy clubs to poke for bodies in waist-high mud the consistency of pudding in nearby Seward, where water washed away as many as 50 mobile homes.

A relief center in Armagh listed two dozen persons missing in Seward, and the list was growing.

"We just can't keep up with it," said one volunteer.

Family Tells Flood Terror

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — When the rains began, Richard Stantz was drinking Black Velvet and Mountain Dew with the boys.

His fiancée, Rita Jo Searle, had been swimming at Ideal Park with her three young sons and her mother.

Richard's brother, Ray, was minding their three children, while his wife, Deborah, played bingo at the Knights of Columbus — recreation on her day off from the maid's job at the Enterprise Motel.

The two Stantz families lived in separate apartments, two buildings apart, in the Solomon Homes project, along Solomon Run Creek in Johnstown.

Rita got home at 10:30 and put the kids to bed. Rich arrived at 11:30.

"It was already pouring rain so bad I felt like a fish," he said.

Deborah, meanwhile, stopped off at a bar. As she prepared to leave, water already was coursing through the street, car bumper high. At 12:45 a.m. her girl friend Marian phoned to say if she was going home, now was the time.

While Richard and Rita watched television the power went off. Their clock stopped at 11:52. Rita switched her radio to battery power.

Deborah arrived home at 1:30 to an apartment lit only with candles. They invited Marian, who had no candles, to come over with her five children.

Lightning stabbed at the darkened city.

"Marian looked out the window and said, 'Oh, my God, the bridge over Solomon Run just washed away,'" said Deborah. The lawn outside their apartment building, three feet above sidewalk level, was under water.

By now the radio station was warning motorists to stay off roads. But nothing more.

Then the saga of Solomon Run began.

"I said, 'My God, look at the cars floating down Solomon Street. There are people screaming for help,'" Richard recalled. "They were going so swift, no one could help them."

Rita: "I was stunned, it was too unbelievable to know water was deep enough to carry cars."

By 12:30, cars were tumbling down Solomon Street, a slight incline.

Through the lightning flashes, Rita saw half of the office building that serves the housing project being washed away. On nearby Widman street, she could see a fire truck evacuating people.

About that time, Ray and Deborah joined neighbors outside to see what help they could give.

They woke an elderly woman in a first-floor apartment and Ray carried her to a higher building.

Across Solomon Street, water swept away a house. A father and son went with it.

"We couldn't get across the street," Ray said. "Boulders were rolling down the river and Solomon Street. The water was washing telephone poles and trees down. After one boulder the size of a house came down, half the highway collapsed."

Pennsylvania Route 56 is beside Solomon Run, curving S-like past the housing development.

"When the highway collapsed, the water changed course and started washing other buildings out," Ray said. "It began coursing between the buildings, smashing cars against them. Some of the foundations began collapsing."

All the while there was continuous rain and unearthly noise.

At 2:30 a.m. Deborah heard people shouting for help in the Glenn Graham house across Solomon Street. The occupants were on the second floor, because the ground level was under water.

"We made several attempts to help them," Ray said, shaking his head at the memory. Somehow the six members of the family made it 10 feet across the roof to Margie's Bar, next door. Minutes later the house washed away.

The people in the bar then put a ladder to the roof of the Mack bungalow on the other side, Ray said. Just as Mack and his wife got down, their home was swept away.

At 4:30 a.m. Ray and his wife were in another building. "I had a flashlight and saw something move," he said. He reached down and pulled two women and a baby from waist-deep water, miraculously alive.

Over the rain and the thunder they heard gunshots from the nearby MA Lounge, a tavern that seats about 50 people.

"They were trying to signal for help," Ray said. "People couldn't get to them. I don't know how many died there."

Richard and Rita, meanwhile, stayed in their apartment on higher ground.

With the first light of day, they walked outside.

"It was a lot worse at daybreak," Richard said, "because you could look out and see the lines hanging from light poles, the busted cars, the crashed buildings, the ripped off pavement with gas pipes on top."

Helicopter pilots told them to go to a road at the top of a steep hillside in back of the apartment complex to be picked up by army trucks. Ray Stantz, his wife and their three children made the climb, taking only diapers for the children and two cans of soft drinks.

Richard and Rita, meanwhile, noticed that their two cars had been smashed by the autos parked on either side.

"I wasn't worried about myself," Rita said. "We still had gas and water, but no lights. At least that's what I thought until I tried to flush the toilet and there was no water and tried to turn on the stove and there was no gas."

But Rita was worried about her mother, who lived three miles away. "Richard decided to put my mind at ease by going over there."

Richard: "I walked through mud and water up to my neck, and went under twice."

But he made it and found the mother alright. The walk, normally 45 minutes each way, had taken more than four hours.

State Rules Closings Up To Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It is strictly up to the individual school district in Ohio, no matter how financially troubled it may be, whether it closes early during the upcoming school year, State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson says.

Several school districts have served formal notice of their financial difficulties and as many as 55 may ultimately face a decision to close early, according to Ferguson.

"It's all a question of how much a school district is willing to sacrifice to prevent closing," the auditor said. "The cost-benefit analysis is completely up to them."

"We simply certify whether the school can continue to operate without a deficit under the conditions we find them in at the time of the financial analysis. The law says a school cannot operate at a deficit."

Ferguson noted "the recent projection of an early closing in the Licking Valley Local School District appears to be only the tip of the iceberg."

He said 14 other districts have asked for a financial analysis of their operations, required by law before an early closing date — or in severe cases a late opening date — can be set.

Market Report

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market gained ground today in a positive response to weekly Federal Reserve money-and-credit statistics. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose a fraction in early trading.

Gainers took a 5-3 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The Fed's weekly report, issued at the close on Thursday, showed a decline in the basic measure of the money supply.

The figures were taken as a sign of reduced pressure on the central bank to tighten credit.

Itel was the early volume leader among NYSE issues, down 3/8 at 19 1/2.

Texaco, which reported an 18 percent increase in its second quarter profits on Thursday, picked up 1/8 to 30 3/8 in active trading.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 1.30 gain to 921.78, extending its advance for the past five sessions to 18.70 points.

But losers outnumbered gainers by about a 4-3 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume came to 26.88 million shares, against 29.38 million on Wednesday.

The NYSE's composite index lost .09 to 55.64.

Woman Chief Ousted By Landslide Vote

COLUMBO: Sri Lanka (AP) - In a stunning election landslide, the opposition United National party today ousted Prime Minister Srimavo Bandaranaike, the world's only woman chief of government.

The vote, continuing a Sri Lankan tradition of unseating incumbents, made 70-year-old opposition chief Junius Richard Jayewardene the new leader of this island nation south of India.

With three-quarters of the vote counted from Thursday's national elections, his party had captured 105 seats and was well on its way to securing the two-thirds majority it said it needed to bring Sri Lanka "a new society."

Mrs. Bandaranaike's Sri Lanka Freedom party had won a total of only three seats, including her own. An ethnic minority party won 15 seats, and the rest were scattered among other minor parties.

The austere Jayewardene had spent four decades near the center of power in Sri Lanka, the former Ceylon, but he had never before held the top job.

After a campaign blending capitalist and social welfare policies, Jayewardene had been expected to do well in the voting, Sri Lanka's eighth parliamentary election since gaining independence from Britain in 1948. But the results surpassed his most optimistic expectations.

Jayewardene was to take over the prime ministership formally today or Saturday.

Lightning Bolt Fails To Stop Ohio Electric

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It couldn't have been timed better.

On the same day state Energy Director Robert S. Ryan reported that a New York-type blackout was highly unlikely in Ohio, the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. experienced an unpreventable emergency — and not a light flickered.

A lightning bolt struck the C&SOE generating plant at Conesville in Coshocot County Thursday while it was supplying more than half of the company's power.

The lightning started a fire that caused loss of the entire electric output of the station, according to C&SOE spokesman Robert Jones.

But no service to C&SOE customers was interrupted.

Jones said the utility avoided a mass outage by reducing voltage by 5 percent systemwide, tying in with other electric utilities and purchasing emergency power from the Ohio Power Co.

Within seven hours, the generators at Conesville, the company's largest station, had been put back on line and full operations were resumed, Jones said.

Meanwhile, Ryan sent a report to Gov. James A. Rhodes on Thursday in which he said there was little likelihood in Ohio of a "blackout or even a brownout similar to those recently occurring in New York."

County Gets Supplemental ADC Payments

A supplemental Aid to Dependent Children Distribution totaling $1,817,808 was sent to 524,665 recipients in Ohio's 88 counties, State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office said today.

The increases in ADC payments were a result of the recent passage of house Bill 191, which determined the state's general appropriations for the biennium beginning July 1, 1977.

In Pickaway County, 1,008 residents received $3,587.

Ferguson said the supplemental warrants were mailed exclusive of the regular monthly July distribution to insure against ADC recipients receiving their monthly checks late.

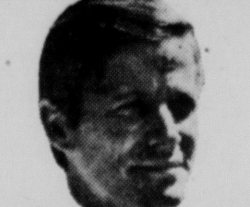

Future ADC warrants will include the adjusted amounts, making July the only month in which two checks were issued, he added.

The Toledo University of Arts and Trades, forerunner of the University of the City of Toledo, opened in 1871.

Market Report

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market gained ground today in a positive response to weekly Federal Reserve money-and-credit statistics. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose a fraction in early trading.

Gainers took a 5-3 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The Fed's weekly report, issued at the close on Thursday, showed a decline in the basic measure of the money supply.

The figures were taken as a sign of reduced pressure on the central bank to tighten credit.

Itel was the early volume leader among NYSE issues, down 3/4 at 19 1/2.

Texaco, which reported an 18 percent increase in its second quarter profits on Thursday, picked up 1/4 to 30 3/4 in active trading.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 1.30 gain to 921.78, extending its advance for the past five sessions to 18.70 points.

But losers outnumbered gainers by about a 4-3 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume came to 26.88 million shares, against 29.38 million on Wednesday.

The NYSE's composite index lost .09 to 55.64.

Woman Chief Ousted By Landslide Vote

COLUMBO: Sri Lanka (AP) — In a stunning election landslide, the opposition United National party today ousted Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike, the world's only woman chief of government.

The vote, continuing a Sri Lankan tradition of unseating incumbents, made 70-year-old opposition chief Junius Richard Jayewardene the new leader of this island nation south of India.

With three-quarters of the vote counted from Thursday's national elections, his party had captured 105 seats and was well on its way to securing the two-thirds majority it said it needed to bring Sri Lanka "a new society."

Mrs. Bandaranaike's Sri Lanka Freedom party had won a total of only three seats, including her own. An ethnic minority party won 15 seats, and the rest were scattered among other minor parties.

The austere Jayewardene had spent four decades near the center of power in Sri Lanka, the former Ceylon, but he had never before held the top job.

After a campaign blending capitalist and social welfare policies, Jayewardene had been expected to do well in the voting, Sri Lanka's eighth parliamentary election since gaining independence from Britain in 1948. But the results surpassed his most optimistic expectations.

Jayewardene was to take over the prime ministership formally today or Saturday.

County Gets Supplemental ADC Payments

A supplemental Aid to Dependent Children Distribution totaling $1,817,808 was sent to 524,665 recipients in Ohio's 88 counties, State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office said today.

The increases in ADC payments were a result of the recent passage of house Bill 191, which determined the state's general appropriations for the biennium beginning July 1, 1977.

In Pickaway County, 1,008 residents received $3,587.

Ferguson said the supplemental warrants were mailed exclusive of the regular monthly July distribution to insure against ADC recipients receiving their monthly checks late.

Future ADC warrants will include the adjusted amounts, making July the only month in which two checks were issued, he added.

George Lindsey No 'Hee Haw' Country Hick

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Hee Haw" is: 1. Corny. 2. The biggest hit in TV syndication. 3. A barnyard collection of ancient jokes. 4. A serious examination of the mores of modern society.

Well, three out of four ain't bad. "Hee Haw" is the summer show CBS hurriedly rushed to the air after the Smothers Brothers were fired a few years back. To the network's embarrassment it became a smash hit.

CBS was trying to shed its rural image for more sophisticated comedy, but found it couldn't kill the "Hee Haw" mule with a stick. Finally, it simply kicked it overboard.

The show's producers hocked everything they owned to put the show into syndication. It's now seen by more than 30 million people every weekend on 227 stations.

"I don't see any end to it," said George Lindsey, who joined the show seven years ago as a writer and one of its 35 regular performers. Lindsey, too, was a victim of CBS' turn toward sophistication. He had been Goober for 7½ years, first on "The Andy Griffith Show" and then on "Mayberry RFD," which continued many of the characters.

"You can turn on 'Hee Haw' and it's got something for everybody. It's got singing, jokes and girls. It's like vegetable soup — you're bound to find something in it you like."

"Hee Haw" has been called a barnyard "Laugh-In," which the Nashville-made show is in a way. But the show has long since come into its own, plowing its own way, so to speak. Like "Laugh-In," it has a machinegun pace. And like "Laugh-In," most of its humor seems cribbed from Joe Miller's Joke Book.

Lindsey believes the show, especially in the beginning, has had a lot of closet viewers who watched it but wouldn't admit it. "It's strong in New York. It's strong in all the cities. It's not a hillbilly show. It is a rural show, but funny is funny. In my nightclub act I do some old jokes, but it's how you tell them," he said.

He said the show has been marvelous for his career.

"I came right off 'Mayberry' and went into 'Hee Haw,'" he said. "I think I created a monster with Goober. I haven't been able to work in Hollywood since then."

"I was on the Griffith show for 4½ years and on 'Mayberry' for three years. Loved every minute of it. We were the No. 1 show in the '60s. But I got typecast as Goober. I guess it was because of the popularity of the show and the fact that with the reruns it's never been off the air."

It is somewhat ironic that he has been typecast as the simple-minded filling station mechanic. The Alabama-born Lindsey is a college graduate, former high school teacher and football coach, graduate of the American Theater Wing in New York, former Broadway actor and once a character actor in scores of movies and TV shows. He still does voices for Disney animated cartoons, most recently "The Rescuers," and occasionally appears in a Disney movie.

Lindsey, 48, lives in the Tarzana section of Los Angeles with his wife and two children. His rambling house is on the top of a hill and overlooks a meadow where he is building a haybarn and horse stalls.

He talked in a room that seems a reflection of his comedic personality. Although not a hunter, he has stuffed animals on the walls. On closer examination, it's clear the eyes are crossed and that the javelina has a rubber chicken hanging from its mouth. The room had been a garage, but he had it built to look like a mountain cabin. He said, "There's a lot of stuff in here that doesn't mean anything to anybody but me. This is my room."

He devotes part of his time to the Special Olympics in Alabama, where he recently helped raise $35,000 by sponsoring a celebrity golf tournament.

Lindsey said he is disappointed that he can't work regularly in Hollywood. "But I'm not singing the blues," he said. "I'm booked solid through October. That's the power of television. It took me a long time to get people at 'Hee Haw' to stop calling me Goober. I got paranoid about it."

"I grew a moustache and one day in an airport a little girl pointed at me and said, 'Mama, there goes Goober with a moustache.' Then I grew a beard."

He finally shaved the beard and came to terms with it, although fans continue to associate him with the role.

Insane Plea May Be Easy Defense

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A plea of insanity may become a far easier defense in murder cases as a result of a Supreme Court ruling Wednesday.

The high court, sharply divided on the issue, ruled that a claim of insanity need not be proven by the defendant but instead that the prosecution must prove that the defendant was sane when the crime was committed.

In two murder cases, combined by the high court because the issues were similar, the court's majority said that the claim of insanity is like the claim of self-defense and therefore is an "affirmative defense."

Such a defense posture, the court said, means a person charged with a crime "...has only the burden of going forward with evidence of a nature and quality sufficient to raise that defense, and does not have the burden of establishing such defense by a preponderance of the evidence."

The ruling involved Eddie Carl Humphries of Columbus and Barbara Elaine Meyer of Clark County. Humphries had pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to charges including two counts of aggravated murder. Mrs. Meyer made the same defense on a charge of causing the death of Robert E. Meyer.

A Franklin County jury, instructed that it was Humphries' duty to prove his insanity, found him guilty. Humphries' lawyer did not object to the judge's instruction which the high court ruled as improper.

Humphries appealed to the 10th District Court of Appeals and lost. The Supreme Court said that both the Franklin County and the 10th District courts were wrong but upheld Humphries' conviction because his lawyer did not object to the lower court judge's erroneous instruction to the jury.

"...by failing to object to the jury instruction, (the defendant) waived the error on appeal."

In the case of Mrs. Meyer, who will have a new trial, the 2nd District Court of Appeals overturned her conviction because of the lower court judge's jury instructions. The Supreme Court upheld that reversal.

The court was unanimous in the Humphries case but Justices Frank D. Celebrezze and Ralph Locher dissented strongly in the Meyer decision.

Lucasville Inmate Wants New Trial

LUCASVILLE, Ohio (AP) — An inmate convicted of attempting escape from the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility plans to appeal, partly on grounds the jury trial was held inside the prison.

Myron Schwartz, attorney for Paul Brumfield, 29, said he will file a motion for a new trial within a week.

The Laurelville School Elementary Library staff wishes to thank students, parents and the community for helping us to have a very successful school year. Our library strives to provide our students and teachers with educational materials which aid in the learning process while encouraging our students to learn and read independently.

We are always searching for new ideas and new materials. Our money making projects are vital in the support of our goals. As many of you know, we had several such projects this year which, without your support, would not have been successful.

Our principal, Mr. Dean, turned over the annual magazine sale to us. This was a tremendous boost to the library fund. The students worked very hard and did an excellent job. All proceeds were used to purchase new cassette recorder-players, headphones and jackboxes.

The Campbell soup labels were collected again this year. We cashed in our labels for a set of primary encyclopedias and a set of art books containing famous art prints.

Our annual book fair was held this past February. Parents were invited to come and browse through the selection of books which were on sale. We were very happy to see those parents who were able to attend. We hope they found the Book Fair as enjoyable as the children did. The proceeds from the fair will be used to buy extra supplies for the library.

All materials and equipment will be ready for use next fall. Looking forward to the new school year and your continued encouragement and support.

The Les Amies Sunday School class of the Trinity U.M. church held its annual picnic supper at the Poling trailer on Monday evening. Mrs. Evelyn Lehman gave the prayer before supper. Mrs. Nancy Maxson, president, was in charge of the brief meeting and Miss Ruth Bowers gave the devotions. 19 persons enjoyed the evening.

Dr. E.O. (Bud) Kelley, his wife Joyce and their son Brian of Perrysburg were weekend guests of Joyce's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Swebston. On Sunday they attended the get-together at the home of Bob and Carol Bowers following the baptism of their infant daughter, Alicia DeHaven Bowers. The baby was baptised during the morning service at Trinity U.M. Church by the Rev. Jacob Lehman.

G.H. (Hurst) Armstrong, who has been a hospital patient for some time has returned to his home. Elmer Payne of Route 1, has returned home from Lancaster hospital and is recuperating from a light stroke.

Sunday visitors at the home of Bessie and Mildred Fetherolf were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fetherolf of Norwalk, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feyh and Mr. and Mrs. Junior Feyh of Columbus.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Hartsaugh on Sunday included Vic and Alice Pontious of Amanda, Tom and Linda Hartsaugh, Dwight and Dorothy Smith of Circleville. Evening callers were Walter and Grace Richardson of Laurelville.

A number of persons from the Church of God spent last week at Warsaw Church of God Camp Meeting where Rev. Lynn Summers was the speaker at some of the meetings. Sunday speaker at the Laurelville Church of God was Perry Griffith at both the morning and evening service. Griffith was formerly a coach at Logan Elm school before going into the ministry.

Mrs. Ruth Reid spent three days last week visiting with the Robert Harper family who were camping at Old Man's cave for the week.

Due to a new policy of the Herald, I will no longer be able to print the names of persons attending various parties, showers and meetings. The Herald says this is due to tighter news space.

On July 1 Dr. Ronald Whisler was appointed Director of the Department of Rheumatology at University Hospital, Columbus, Oh. Dr. Whisler recently returned to Columbus after spending 3½ years at Mayo Clinic on research of joint diseases.

Memorial Airport News

By DAVE CAIN

Hi! Long time, no see. Our fearless manager Bev Dahl fled to England last week and she doesn't plan on sneaking back into the country until the first of August. So, in the meantime, her linemen Dave Cain and Bruce Carter will be spending a few extra hours at the airport until Bev comes back with the English muffins and the fish and chips.

The most exciting news floating around the airport concerns Martha Poling and Gary Valentine. Martha is now a true-blue, honest-to-goodness private pilot. She passed her flight test last Saturday and I'm sure there is at least one person who has a free ride coming — right Sterling?

The other pilot we're proud of is Gary Valentine. After he became a commercial pilot in March, Gary started working on an instrument rating which lets you fly in the kind of weather you have brains to stay out of. In case you're wondering, a commercial pilot with an instrument rating needs about six times as much flight time as a private pilot to get his license.

We've also had some student pilots recently complete their first solo flight. They are Sonny Powell and John Myers. Congratulations men!

Although the haze has kept a lot of smaller planes on the ground, the big birds still roll through here. I got a chance to talk to one of the pilots of these planes on Monday and certainly learned a lot. The pilot's name was Alex, and he was born in Russia. He lived behind the Iron Curtain for 13 years before he and his family managed to slip into Austria. He told me what it was really like in Russia, and he said unless you've lived somewhere else, you realize what it is like to live in the United States.

There was one small plane that did land here last week, haze or no haze. It was a Baby Great Lakes, and it stood almost four feet high. It was a yellow experimental bi-plane, and although it is the smallest plane that has ever landed here, it certainly isn't the slowest. The pilot said he has gotten a maximum speed of 140 mph out of it. (But of course that was in a power dive.)

Well, enough is enough. See you next week!

Ceremony To Greet First Tanker

SEATTLE (AP) — The first tanker load of crude oil from the Alaska pipeline will be greeted with a ceremony at Cherry Point to mark the occasion, "very tentatively" set for Aug. 7, says an Atlantic Richfield Co. spokesman.

The Arco Juneau, a 120,000-ton supertanker built in 1974 specifically for Alaska oil runs, probably will be the first tanker carrying Prudhoe Bay oil to dock in the "lower 48," Manny Jimenez, Arco public-relations representative, said Wednesday in Los Angeles.

"Assuming everything goes according to schedule, the tanker is likely to arrive about 10 a.m. at Cherry Point," said Jimenez. He emphasized the schedule is "subject to change" because of uncertainties over when oil will arrive at Valdez, Alaska, the southern pipeline terminus.

The trip from Alaska to the northern Washington port will take about three and a half days, he said.

Jimenez said the ceremony will include company officials and possibly some government dignitaries.

It has not been decided which oil company will load the first tanker at Valdez. But officials of Exxon and the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, which also own major shares of Alaska oil, say their first shipments probably will go to California, which takes two days longer than the run to Washington.

Grange News

MT. PLEASANT GRANGE

Mt. Pleasant Grange held its July meeting in the social room of the Mt. Pleasant Church. A short business meeting was held, at which it was decided to have a booth at the fair. They also agreed to serve meals with the Washington Grange, on Tuesday at the County Fair. The men were asked to work at the gates.

Scioto Grangers were the guests of the evening and Miss Sue Braskett, lecturer of Scioto Grange, presented the program. Her theme was, "In the Good Old Summertime," for all the Grangers joined in singing the song. Mrs. Kate Bidwell was the pianist. Miss Braskett also conducted members in the game, name the 15 vegetables hidden in the sentence.

Kenny Beach played a trombone solo entitled "Open Mine Eyes that I May See." The poem, "The Night of the Traveling Program," was presented by Mrs. Jeannie Kessler. Devotions were given by Mrs. Myrtle Beers. All Grangers joined in singing the closing song, "Bud In Bloom," accompanied by Mrs. Kate Bidwell.

Miss Braskett gave each one a very clever booklet she had made that had something to make everyone feel cool or pertaining to summertime.

Refreshments were served to the 31 members and guests by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Atwood, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Cross.

The next meeting will be August 10, at 6:00 p.m., with a picnic and the annual "Steak cook out," at Hargus Lake. In the event of rain, all members should still meet at the lake, to revise the plans.

A Page Of Opinion

Return Of The Horse

In 1960, the Agriculture Department, which takes head counts on hogs, cattle sheep and other farm animals, abandoned its census of horses and mules. The horse and mule population had dropped to 3 million from a peak of more than 25 million in 1920, and to all appearances the horse population in the United States was heading into near oblivion.

Then a resurgence occurred, and while no one knows for certain how many there are today, a good estimate is 8-10 million.

Most of the horses are in urban areas, indicating it is the city dude who is taking to the saddle. Probably fewer than 2 million are used as work animals today.

The further we move from the golden age of the horse, it seems, the more popular the creature becomes. Not as an energy alternative, it should be noted, but largely as a beast of pleasure.

Giddyap!

Great Catalogue

By JIM BISHOP

A dozen gold-plated, 7-jewel watches arrived at North Redwood, Minnesota, in 1886. A jeweler refused them. A railroad, 23, a telegrapher with a handsome mustache, bought them at $7 apiece and sold each at $9.

His name was Richard W. Sears. He was a home student, one who didn't fritter his time with girls at grange dances. He ordered more watches. He telegraphed down the line that he was making salesmen of other telegraphers. Mr. Sears was a mover.

In six months, he quit the railroad and set up a mail-order business in Minneapolis. He sold so many shiny watches that he moved to Chicago and advertised for a watch repairman. A skinny kid from Hammond, Indiana, responded. He said his name was Alvah Roebuck.

They worked together. They made money. They split. Sears was so clever that he sold everything to Roebuck. In 1893, Sears talked his pal out of a half-interest and called it Sears, Roebuck & Co.

America had big ideas in 1900. It had defeated Spain, had 76 million people in 45 states and busted its britches growing. Men earned 22 cents an hour and supported families. Sears Roebuck returned to Chicago and Alvah Roebuck quit. Everyone was moving fast — especially Sears.

He decided that a mail-order catalogue would sell anything. It would, but a 200-page catalogue cost money. Richard Sears found two new partners: Aaron Nussbaum and Julius Rosenwald. They put up $150,000 and became one-third partners in the company.

In time, the Sears Roebuck catalogue covered America. On farms, last year's catalogue hung on a nail in the outhouse. Farmers and factory workers spent evenings under kerosene lamps turning the pages, finding the merchandise they would love to buy but could hardly afford.

At the turn of the century, the handsome Sears placed a notice on the cover of the catalogue: "Capital and Surplus over One Million Dollars." He sold much more than cheap watches. In quantity, Sears undersold everybody.

There was no Food and Drug Administration, so he peddled nostrums which could cure everything. He has Ague Pills and Wonder Heart Cure, Tobacco Cure, Stop Drinking, Asthma, Indigestion, Obesity Powder, Female Ills, Catarrh, Dr. Barker's Blood Builder, Curtis Consumption Cure, and Beef, Iron and Wine.

He sold men's suits in 11 styles from $13.50 to $20.50. What red-blooded man could resist "Stanton's very Finest, Extra Heavy Weight, Plain Black Double Diagonal, All-Wool English Worsteds Cloth Suit" for $15?

Ladies laced high-top shoes with brocade effect: $1.95. A Vici Kid with high buttons was $2. A man could get a dozen high starched collars, with brass collar buttons, for $1. Derbies, suspenders, spats, 5-hook summer corsets, undershirts, camisoles, a fetching striped flannel nightgown were only 69 cents.

A pound of coffee ran from 19 cents to 21 cents. A gallon of house paint sold for 98 cents. In 1900, Sears was selling a double bed, a dressing table and a commode for $21. The orders poured in so fast that he set up Chicago warehouses on Fulton, Desplaines and Wayman Streets.

Long freight trains pulled out of the Chicago yards, rumbling west and east, with big "Sears Roebuck" signs on the chairs, decanters for port and sherry, a hundred-piece dinner set, gold-finished, for $12.75.

Sears guaranteed almost everything. The Edgemere Sewing Machine cost $12.75 and could be used to run up hems, fashion darts, sew applique and make muslin blouses. There was no limit to what Sears Roebuck could do. A four-wheel baby carriage, with a parasol on top, cost only $3.75. Most mothers bought one

Island Election First In 7 Years

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — This island nation's voters, in the habit of rejecting incumbent politicians, chose today between their woman prime minister and an opposition leader who favors a "grand coalition" government to fight the country's economic problems.

About 6.6 million citizens were eligible to vote in Sri Lanka's first national election in seven years. All 168 seats of the unicameral parliament were at stake.

Sirimavo Bandaranaike, the world's only incumbent woman head of government, has been prime minister since 1970, leading a leftist coalition. But political analysts said her Sri Lanka Freedom party might lose its parliamentary plurality in today's balloting.

The six-week campaign was marked by violence. Police reported that at least 10 persons were killed and about 90 injured in election-related incidents.

The chief opposition leader, Junius R. Jayewardene of the United National party, said Wednesday that as prime minister he would invite all other parties to join his cabinet, a move that would end the traditional see-saw of politics on this island, the former Ceylon, off India's southern tip.

Since independence in 1948 the United National party and the Freedom party have ruled alternately for 14 and 15 years, respectively.

In campaigning for re-election, Mrs. Bandaranaike, 61, hoped to avoid the fate of two other prominent incumbents in the Indian subcontinent this year.

In India, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was voted out of office in March after an 11-year rule, and in Pakistan earlier this month the army deposed President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto and saved it for use time after time.

He sold nipples and sponges and gallbladder cures, pliers, even a Giant Electric Belt with "80-gauge current" (for men) afflicted with chronic weakness and nervous diseases: "It Will Penetrate Every Nerve of Your Body" ($18).

"Thousands of Beautiful Women recommend Our White Lily Face Wash" at 40 cents per bottle. As the millions of dollars piled on scores of millions, Richard Sears kept working, buying cheaply, selling cheap. His name was as well known as that of the President of the United States.

In 1908, he quit. In his last great catalogue, he insisted that the railroad watches be featured up front. The new 17-jewel watches, "pre-adjusted" and with hunter cases, were expensive: $20.50.

It was a long way back to North Redwood, Minnesota, but he made the trip. And wondered how much he had missed . . .

Island Election First In 7 Years

and promised new elections.

Mrs. Bandaranaike, an avowed socialist, is the widow of former Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike, who was assassinated in 1959. As the result of elections the next year, she became prime minister for five years. She lost power to the United National party in 1965 and regained it in 1970.

She heads an important political clan here, and the family involvement, along with her use of emergency power in 1971 to put down leftist insurgents, has prompted comparison with Mrs. Gandhi.

Jayewardene, 71, has accused Mrs. Bandaranaike of failing to curb the country's 30 per cent inflation and high unemployment. He did not say how his proposed coalition would cope with the two problems but during the campaign he said he favored what he called a "free economic zone."

Collective Bargaining Bill Amended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A House committee has amended a major public employee collective bargaining bill to make a "last best offer" requirement apply to its binding arbitration feature.

Under the requirement, arbiters of disputes between public workers and their employers would accept in writing the last and best proposal of each side, then choose between the two.

Rep. Sherrod Brown, D-61 Mansfield, won 8-7 approval of the amendment Wednesday night, which embraces a relatively new concept in collective bargaining, over the objections of Commerce and Labor Chairman J. Leonard Camera, D-53 Lorain.

Camera assailed the amendment was "unworkable" and joined other committee members in maintaining it would discourage give-and-take bargaining if both sides knew in advance their best offer would eventually be submitted to the arbiter in secret, as provided in the Brown amendment.

Brown, a second term House member and the youngest in the legislature at 23, took exception to the comments of his chairman, saying the concept would encourage serious bargaining. "Neither side would make an outrageous proposal, something they couldn't live with," he said.

Camera said "I've been hearing about this last best offer thing for the past five or six years, and I'm convinced it came from someone who might have a college degree but never sat down at a bargaining table."

The Lorain County lawmaker, who has had 40 years of experience in labor negotiations, indicated he may seek to remove the provision when the Senate-passed bill reaches the floor, probably next Tuesday.

LAFF - A - DAY

"Promise me, no more rain dances!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have been plagued with terribly itchy hives. They come without any reason. I wonder if you have any ideas how I can go about getting rid of them. I'm 26.

Miss R. L., Mo.

Dear Miss L.:

There is most certainly a "reason" for this condition, known as "urticaria." Unfortunately, you have not been able to locate that reason, but you can be sure it does exist.

It takes a great deal of ingenuity and detective work to find the offending substance. That cause usually lies in foods, drugs, physical irritants, infections and in emotional stress.

Many doctors, particularly allergy specialists, spend a great deal of time in taking a complete history from the patient. The greatest possibility of uncovering the cause lies in clues that can be gathered in this way.

Foods are especially responsible for hives. Doctors suggest that the patient keep an exact diary of foods eaten for about three weeks. Then, notes should be made concerning the time of the onset of symptoms. In this way, if a certain food is responsible it can be pinpointed and eliminated.

The greatest offenders seem to be shellfish, eggs, strawberries, nuts and spices. Certain drugs like penicillin, quinine, or vitamin B12, may also be responsible.

Exposure to cold, heat and sunlight should be observed.

As you can gather, it's an arduous task. Yet, complete cooperation between the doctor and the patient can very often track down the cause of urticaria.

Fortunately, there are now many new drugs that can be used to ward off the attacks and to treat them effectively when they occur.

Is it dangerous to drink extremely hot drinks? My 15-year-old son pours and drinks his coffee directly from the pot while it perks.

Mrs. D. V., N.Y.

Dear Mrs. V.:

Of course, this doesn't make sense. Extremely hot fluids poured directly over the skin can produce an obvious burn.

Can you imagine what such excessively hot liquids can do to the delicate lining of the mouth and the esophagus?

There is a built-in protection that cools liquids, but it is not responsible to expect that the sensitive mucous membrane lining can protect itself against such self-imposed attacks.

Rasputin's Daughter Recalls 'Mad Monk'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rasputin, the "Mad Monk" of czarist Russia, was brutally murdered in 1916 not because the nobility feared his power, but because he resisted a prince's homosexual advances, Rasputin's daughter says.

Maria Grigorievna Rasputin, a 77-year-old widow who lives here on Social Security checks after years of circus performances as "the daughter of the Mad Monk," has recounted her memories of her notorious father.

"Rasputin: The Man Behind the Myth," published this month, was written with Patte Barham, editor and publisher of Society West magazine.

Miss Rasputin's version of her father contrasts with the legend, spread in more than 300 books and several movies, of the demonic, licentious, hypnotic, evil, bearded figure intriguing to dominate the royal couple.

"My father was a very kind, very holy man," she said in an interview. "Always he thinks of others — never himself, only others. Many people were jealous of him."

She accepts the story of her father's prodigious sexual appetites with a sober expression and resigned shrug.

"I learn of this many years later, but when I was living with him in St. Petersburg (now Leningrad), I see nothing of this. He was very strict father," she said in her heavily accented English.

She points out that her father, Grigori Efimovich Rasputin, was never a monk, but a "staretz" or self-styled holy man and faith healer.

After acquiring a reputation as a healer in St. Petersburg in 1907, he somehow stopped the hemophilia (hemorrhaging) of the young Czarovich Alexei, the heir to the throne. Rasputin's power over Czarina Alexandra and Czar Nicholas Romanov II was assured.

On Dec. 16, 1916, a group of nobility led by Prince Felix Yussupov killed Rasputin and threw his body into the river Neva. Most histories say the princes were trying to stop his influence with the royal couple.

But in her book, Miss Rasputin said the reason for the murder was Rasputin's rejection of Yussupov's homosexual advances. And she said an autopsy showed her father died from drowning in the river — despite having been poisoned, raped, shot, beaten and mutilated with a knife.

After the murder, Maria Rasputin and her younger sister were sheltered by the czar until his abdication in 1917, when the two fled to Siberia. Maria married White Russian officer Boris Soloviev, who tried to smuggle money to the czar's family. They left Russia and went to Europe, where her husband died of tuberculosis in 1926.

She became a cabaret dancer in Bucharest "because of my name, not because of my dancing." She learned to train wild animals — "why not? I have been in a cage with Bolsheviks" — and joined the Ringling Bros. Circus in 1935. She came permanently to this country two years later.

Tin Cans Become Statues

By ALFONSO CHARDY
Associated Press Writer

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — With all the recycling of materials going 'round these days, Juan Pablo Signoretti has found an interesting hobby and an original way for reusing old tin cans.

One-Doctor Burg To Get Dentist

CEDARVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The one-doctor town of Cedarville will soon get its first dentist.

Dr. Jerry Frasure is equipping a dental office in the Kyle Medical Center which was built through community fund-raising to attract doctors to this rural town of 2,400 in Greene County.

The center was named for the "old doc" of the area, Donald F. Kyle who has been the only doctor for 42 years. A group of optometrists also will move into the center and the search continues for a young physician. More than 400 applications are being screened.

He fashions them into shiny metal icons of medieval knights, Roman soldiers or just about anything that comes to his mind.

"So far I've made 2,000 tin statues out of 3,000 tin cans that I scrounged from friends, relatives, or saved by myself," the 67-year-old Signoretti, a janitor in an elegant apartment building in downtown Buenos Aires, said in an interview.

The Swiss-born Signoretti, who has been in Argentina since his immigrant parents brought him here at the age of 9, said he does it as a hobby.

"But, maybe one of these days I'll sell some of them because many people who know about my work want to buy them," he said. So far, of the 2,000 statues he has made, he has given at least 1,800 away to government officials, friends, relatives and journalists.

Working with a pair of pliers and scissors, Signoretti turns pieces of discarded beer, cooking oil and processed food cans into his figurines.

His one-room rooftop apartment is jammed with the statues, making it look like a vision out of the Wizard of Oz.

Most prominent are the knights in many poses — drawing swords, marching, riding horses. Also, there are statues of Roman gladiators fighting or riding chariots.

The statues measure about two feet high in average. But Signoretti once made a six-foot-tall statue of Argentina's independence hero, Gen. Jose de San Martin, riding on horseback.

That one was the biggest so far. He gave it to the San Martin research institute where it is kept on display.

Known by his neighbors as "the man of the tin cans," Signoretti's fame has spread slowly through Buenos Aires. He has already been the subject of several television and radio appearances and his hobby has been described in local newspapers and magazines.

"I've been doing this for eight years, and I like it so much that I'm going to do it for the rest of my life," he said. "It's nothing but a hobby. Some people collect stamps, others make toy ships and stick them inside bottles. So I make statues out of tin cans."

HAZY, HOT, AND HUMID! The weather forecasts are beginning to sound like a broken record with the needle stuck in the groove. Fortunately, the Pickaway County District Public Library cannot be accused of the same. Variety is our specialty. The new titles this week prove that.

If you've been waiting to continue the Bicentennial series by John Jakes and prefer the hardback edition, "The Seekers" and "The Furies" are now available in that form.

Norah Lofts completes her trilogy begun with "Knights Acre" and "The Homecoming". In 15th century England, Joanna desires to be the wife of widowed Henry in "The Lonely Furrow."

Another popular author, Jean Plaidy, offers an historical novel about the early years of Victoria's reign. "The Queen And Lord M" shows the young ruler in the midst of scandals, feuds, and love.

"I write for people who like to read," says Sandra Paretti, Germany's number one writer of historical romances. "The Wishing Tree" is an epic saga of a determined woman and the dream that wouldn't die.

"The Cry Of The Owl" by Margaret Mayhew is a tale of romantic suspense steeped in emotional conflict and dark adventure. Set in 18th century England, it should appeal to all gothic readers.

Another terrifying believable novel in the genre of "Rosemary's Baby" and "The Exorcist", "Lupe" by Gene Thompson combines murder and witchcraft in a tale guaranteed to chill you to the bone.

A 19th century Canadian trading post is the setting for "The Kidnapped Surgeon" by Alexander Knox. A boy's broken arm leads to a set of circumstances that subject the reader to much suspense.

Science fiction fans will have "Best Science Fiction Stories Of The Year". This is the 6th annual collection edited by Gardner Dozois.

"Best" is the 31st annual collection of detective stories. This collection is the best of the year 1977 edited by Edward D. Hoch.

John Creasey sends Dawlish to trace a young girl who eloped to France. He recalls a recent case where the eloping girl ended up buried alive! The famous detective pursues the couple in a fast-paced thriller titled "Elope To Death." Genealogy is sweeping the country!

"Finding Your Roots" by Jeane Westin is a handbook that attempts to show how every American can trace his ancestors at home and abroad.

"The Today Show" by Robert Metz is an inside look at the 25 tumultuous years since its debut and the colorful and controversial people behind the screen.

Dr. Charlie Shedd is a best-selling expert on family relations. His newest book is "The Best Dad Is A Good Lover." It's intended to help fathers establish a better relationship with their children.

Tolkien has probably had more impact on the reading public than most writers of his century. Humphrey Carpenter has written the authorized biography of this remarkable man. "Tolkien" is a must for all of his readers and a good start for those not yet acquainted with him.

"The Experience Of Inner Healing" by Ruth Carter Stapleton attempts to show the reader how to transform past failures and negative experiences into positive stepping stones to Christlike wholeness.

"Am I Running With You, God?" by Malcolm Boyd is the author's search for the joy of Christ in the midst of life. It puts a sense of God into busy lives.

Gerald Strober appeals to the young reader by painting Dr. Billy Graham in simple, open terms. "Billy Graham, His Life And Faith" is a new portrait of America's leading evangelist.

Another volume in the Time-Life Home Improvement Series has been published. This one shows you how to make "New Living Spaces".

Be sure to keep your cool with a new book and a quiet weekend!

Science fiction fans will have "Best Science Fiction Stories Of The Year". This is the 6th annual collection edited by Gardner Dozois.

"Best" is the 31st annual collection of detective stories. This collection is the best of the year 1977 edited by Edward D. Hoch.

John Creasey sends Dawlish to trace a young girl who eloped to France. He recalls a recent case where the eloping girl ended up buried alive! The famous detective pursues the couple in a fast-paced thriller titled "Elope To Death." Genealogy is sweeping the country!

"Finding Your Roots" by Jeane Westin is a handbook that attempts to show how every American can trace his ancestors at home and abroad.

"The Today Show" by Robert Metz is an inside look at the 25 tumultuous years since its debut and the colorful and controversial people behind the screen.

Dr. Charlie Shedd is a best-selling expert on family relations. His newest book is "The Best Dad Is A Good Lover." It's intended to help fathers establish a better relationship with their children.

Tolkien has probably had more impact on the reading public than most writers of his century. Humphrey Carpenter has written the authorized biography of this remarkable man. "Tolkien" is a must for all of his readers and a good start for those not yet acquainted with him.

"The Experience Of Inner Healing" by Ruth Carter Stapleton attempts to show the reader how to transform past failures and negative experiences into positive stepping stones to Christlike wholeness.

"Am I Running With You, God?" by Malcolm Boyd is the author's search for the joy of Christ in the midst of life. It puts a sense of God into busy lives.

Gerald Strober appeals to the young reader by painting Dr. Billy Graham in simple, open terms. "Billy Graham, His Life And Faith" is a new portrait of America's leading evangelist.

Another volume in the Time-Life Home Improvement Series has been published. This one shows you how to make "New Living Spaces".

Be sure to keep your cool with a new book and a quiet weekend!

Miss Ewing-Mr. Driesbach Repeat July Wedding Vows

MR. AND MRS. SETH ALLEN DRIESBACH

In a 2:30 p.m., July 3, ceremony Miss Karen Sue Ewing, became the bride of Mr. Seth Allen Driesbach, in the St. Paul United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Roy W. Rose performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ewing, Stoutsville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Driesbach, 27967 Caldwell Road.

Organist, Miss Weta Mae Leist presented a program of nuptial selections. Pianist was Miss Lydia Delong. Vocalist was Mr. Ronald Driesbach, father of the bridegroom.

The altar was centered with a unity candle and a vase of red and white carnations flanked by seven branch candelabras.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother and father, and approached the altar on the arm of her father. The brides formal length gown was of white satin. The sheer yoke and long sheer puffed sleeves gathered at the cuff. The cuffs and yoke were trimmed with lace and the wide cuffs were trimmed with white pearl buttons. The attached train flowed into a chapel length train. Her waltz length veil of silk illusion with lace trim was caught by a bridal cap. Her jewelry was a silver watch, a gift of the groom and a silver locket. Her flowers were of the colonial style bouquet of red roses and white carnations with greenery carried on top of a white Bible.

Miss Peggy Overly served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Valentine, Miss Tami Driesbach, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Larry Sigmon.

Master Scott Ewing, served as ring bearer for the bridal couple.

Mr. Steve Rawlins, performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Mr. Brian Barr, Mr. Jim Ewing, brother of the bride and Mr. Kevin Driesbach, brother of the bridegroom.

The reception was held in the church social rooms immediately following the ceremony. The four tiered wedding cake was decorated with red and blue flowers and topped with the traditional bride and groom, and was encircled with mixed greenery.

Hostesses were Mrs. Jim Ewing, Mrs. Jerry Wolford, Mrs. Mark Hawks and Miss Debbie Wiseman.

The bride is a 1975 graduate of Logan Elm High School and is employed as a secretary at BancOhio Second National Bank, N. Court St. office.

The bridegroom is a 1976 graduate of Logan Elm High School and Pickaway Ross Joint Vocational School, he is currently employed as an electrician at Kinser Electric, Amanda.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Driesbach at their residence the evening prior to the ceremony.

Bridal showers were given for Miss Ewing by Miss Peggy Overly, St. Paul United Methodist Church, and Miss Kathy Valentine.

The couple will reside at 188 Parklawn Drive, Circleville.

Wedding Vows Solemnized In Trinity Lutheran Church

MRS. MARK REED TALBOOT

The Trinity Lutheran Church was the scene for the wedding of Miss Mesheil Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lloyd, Somerset, and Mr. Mark Reed Talboot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stelzl, Lynn, Massachusetts.

Pastor Carl Zehner performed the double ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with vases of blue and white carnations.

Mrs. Thomas Downing, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother and father, and approached the altar on the arm of her father. She selected a formal length gown of white chantilly lace. The gown featured a fitted bodice and a U-neckline edged in lace. The long sleeves of chantilly lace, were puffed to the elbows and tapered to the wrists. The five tier hoop skirt of chantilly lace flowed into a chapel length train. Her veil of bridal illusion was caught by a Juliet cap and accented with sequins. Her colonial bouquet was of white daisy pom poms and baby's breath.

Miss Terry Ross, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Timothy Johnson, and Miss Wendy Riffle.

Miss Candy Noojin and Miss Kimberly Brandon served as flower girls. Mr. Ron Short, performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Mr. Timothy Johnson and Mr. Richard Johnson, brothers of the bride.

The buffet reception was held at the American Legion Hall. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with hearts, and topped with a bride and groom.

The hostess was Miss Drahye Johnson. Mrs. Jerry Easter presided at the guest register.

The bride is a senior at Circleville High School.

The bridegroom is a graduate of English High School, Lynn, Massachusetts, and is currently serving with the U.S. Air Force stationed at Rickenbacker Air Force Base.

Guests of honor at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. William Beal, grandparents of the bride.

Derby Garden Clubs Hold July Meeting

Mrs. Margaret Roberts, Madison County, OAGC contact chairman spoke on staging and planning a flower show at the July 11 meeting of the Derby Garden Club. She mentioned the three styles of shows, general, specialized and progressive or placement shows. Mrs. Roberts stated that the object of a flower show is to promote interest in horticulture, to educate the public, and to encourage all amateur gardeners to exhibit and to show what can be done with flowers.

Mrs. Carolyn Ohenewehr, flower show chairman, reported on staging details for the Derby Homecoming Flower Show July 29-30.

Junior Garden Club Advisors, Mrs. Virginia Brokamp and Mrs. Susie Furniss, invited the club to stop and see the members gardens at the Brokamp home.

Mrs. Jan Stover, float chairman, reported on plans for displaying the Derby Club Float at various community homecoming parades.

Members were urged to exhibit at the Pickaway County Fair Flower Show, held at August 2-4 Oberlin College.

A tour of members gardens and junior garden club members gardens will be held August 8.

Senior Citizens Cruise Ohio River

A total of 65 senior citizens from the Pickaway County Senior Citizens Center enjoyed a bus trip to Marietta recently. The group was divided into two tours which were held July 13-14. The bus left the center at 8 a.m., and arrived in Marietta about 11 a.m., the driver toured the city pointing out various points of interest.

The groups then boarded The Valley Gem Muskingum Sternwheeler where they had luncheon during the ride down the Muskingum River joining the Ohio River and returning back to Marietta.

Members then boarded the bus for a ride across the Ohio River to Williamstown, West Virginia and a tour of the famous Fenton Art Glass Company.

They returned to Circleville about 6 p.m.

Friendly Visitors Fete Shut-Ins

A party for shut-ins was enjoyed Monday at the Pickaway Senior Center.

The party was given by the Friendly Visitors and began with a sing-a-long with Ray Beery at the piano. Arietta McNeal gave a reading and John Miranda sang a solo, Mr. Miranda and his wife, Ruth, sang a duet. Two birthdays were acknowledged, Vera Saunders and Minnie Strawser.

A social hour and refreshments were enjoyed following the program.

The anchovy is a fish of the herring family.

Union Guild Holds July Meeting

The Union Guild met July 19, in the home of Mrs. Orin Bircher, 1460 N. Court St., with Mrs. Ruby Goodman serving as co-hostess.

It was announced that there would be no meeting in August.

Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon to members present and one guest, Mrs. Norman Schooley.

Ward Reunion Scheduled

The William and Nancy Courtney Ward reunion will be held beginning 12:30 p.m., July 24 at the Ashville Community Park.

Open Records Suit Filed By Newspaper

TROY, Ohio (AP) — The Piqua Call newspaper has asked Miami County Common Pleas Court to define what is a reasonable time for public agencies to open their records to the press.

The interpretation is requested in a suit filed by the newspaper Wednesday requesting that Ned R. Pearson, chief of volunteer fire department in the village of Covington, be ordered to make department records available daily at a reasonable time.

A hearing is scheduled Aug. 2 before Judge Richard K. Wilson.

The newspaper says Pearson has not denied it access to fire records, but has restricted access during fire runs or during the department's monthly meeting.

Derby News

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 896-2462

In her sermon at the Derby United Methodist Church Sunday morning, the Reverend Linda Stafford explained to her congregation the difference between being religious, and being a Christian.

You haven't heard real singing till you hear Nancy Smith, Jody Durlinger, and Linda Ridgway's rendition of "In The Garden". Flowers for the altar are given by Geneva Graham for the month of July.

Greeters were Mickey and Rhonda Phillips.

A carry-in supper held at the Derby Church Sunday evening was well attended. Our pastor is making friends with her congregation, and with her neighbors. We want to make her feel welcome and hope she will enjoy living and working in the community.

Please remember the following with prayer: Florence Ball, Ruth Ridgway, Lloyd Grabill, Mabel Stoer, Edmund Neal, recuperating at home, Irma Clark and Linda Miller, hospitalized, and the following are feeling very poorly at home; Mrs. Ellie Cox, Mrs. Lillian Nance, Mrs. Raleigh Conley, and also Bill Erb whose condition remains about the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Conway, Shelley, Pat, and Joe, enjoyed a week's vacation in Florida recently; while there they visited with Jeanne's cousin, Mrs. Patty Bartlett Route and family.

Mrs. Leroy (Goldie) Phillips son Jerry and family of Delaware were Saturday night supper guests of her sister-in-law and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Spangler and family; evening callers were (Mrs. Spangler's sister) Mr. and Mrs. Howard Funk of Cemetery road, Mt. Sterling.

From the Southwest Church of the Nazarene: Students completing Child Evangelism Training this summer are Minda Caudill, Cindy Langford, Selina Puckett, Kathy Priest, and Shawn Doddroe.

The movie "The Conversion of Colonel Bottomly" was shown on Sunday night. On Monday night, a Youth N' Missions Rally was held at he District Camp Grounds with a Giant Choir and Orchestra for young people from the Church ages 12-23. The speaker was Armond Doll, missionary to Mozambique, Africa, and author of "Toothpaste Express", relating the story of his imprisonment there for a year.

Summer Bible School will be held from August 15-19 at the Southwest Church. On Monday and Tuesday The District Missions Convention, and Wednesday through Friday the Central Ohio District Assembly is being held.

The 63rd annual Homecoming and Fish Fry will be held in a few weeks; did you ever wonder how and when it all began? It was first held in the Bauhan woods in September, 1914 to climax the successful harvest season. Conceived and organized by members of Derby's I.O.O.F. Lodge 770, it had been discussed for several years. They made their plans with an eye to the sky-if it rained the long awaited affair could become a muddy disaster.

Each member gave of his spare time, erecting booths, building a dance floor, getting the local musical talent together for the old time round and square dancing which would take place in the evening. A caller was hired; for many years Gene Price, Derby born, was the caller; he held the title of State champion caller for a long time, and has since passed away.

They built a place to fry the fish, and used coal for fuel. Early that day, each member stood ready to take his turn "slaying over a hot fire" frying the fish to perfection. They had decided to have one day at that time, and all the planned events were crammed into it.

The ladies of the Derby W.C.T.U. served homemade cake, pie, and other delicacies, along with soup, sandwiches, coffee, tea, and soda pop for refreshments. All the town folks were there, old and young alike and those who had married and moved away came from far and near to see old friends and to show off their families.

For the children there was a merry-go-round, games, balloons and cotton candy, and for the young men, a chance to test their skill at winning a prize for the girl friend. More often than not, this was a kewpie doll with colorful feather costume, a fancy cane, or a paper snake which unrolled with a weird sound when you blew on it. The big prize was generally a big doll or a beautiful dish for milady's hope chest. There were contests for the prettiest baby, newest married couple, the longest married, the oldest resident, and one to pick the most popular among the village belles, the forerunner of today's Miss Derby Homecoming.

There was a potato sack race, horseshoe pitching, a pet contest, and a booth where a man with a big voice cried, "Here you are, three balls for a nickel, and win a big prize here!" or wooden ducks to shoot at.

Over the years the rides and games changed and increased in variety, the ferris wheel, gasoline operated then, and at first considered extremely dangerous became electrically operated and a popular attraction at the homecomings. Yes, our first homecoming was a big success here and at surrounding towns where they were held.

As they increased in popularity, it was felt necessary to also increase the one day period to two days, then three. Then the fish fry was moved from the woods area to the center of town. The frequently muddy field was no longer an ideal spot for so many visitors, and definitely not very impressive, nor convenient.

A dance pavilion was constructed each year on London Street for the nightly and popular dancing. For awhile a horse show was held in the woods area. The tractor pull was held in Mr. Geesling's field at the crossroads, proving to be a big attraction. It was also moved to the woods later.

Today, many changes have taken place - the ferris wheel lost some of its attraction when the loop-the-loop and whip came along. Other rides soon took their place, and today the I.O.O.F. Lodge and Derby Men's Club combine to sponsor the homecomings, starting as early as January with plans for the next one.

The Derby Garden Club started in 1955, is now a large part of this event with their annual flower show held in the Church's Fellowship Hall and they always enter a float in the parade. They start many months in advance, selecting a committee, ordering decorating materials, ribbons for the awards, then judges are chosen, tables set up for the exhibits, and the hall decorated; a theme must be selected for their float, often a particular nursery rhyme, and last year, the bicentennial. Their floats are also entered in other events in nearby towns, and have won many prizes for the club over the years.

For the past six years they have had their own wagon with which to carry their entry in the parade. Entries for the flower show are judged and are on display from 6:30-9 p.m. on Friday evening and on Saturday from 1-8 p.m. This year they also plan an educational show which includes preparation for canning and freezing foods. But no matter how early they start, there is always that last minute rush as members work feverishly to complete the float, and the arrangements for the flower show.

On Saturday morning all contest winners assemble at the schoolground for the grand parade, which is led by the Pride of the Mustangs, Westfall High School's talented and colorful Marching Band, now directed by a Westfall alumnus, Mark Hosler. There is now a total of 120 members in the band today; this includes the majorettes and flag bearers. They practice every Thursday evening constantly. Members will attend band camp from August 7-12 at the Proctor Conference Center at Sedalia, Ohio. They are truly fine musicians and have a very accomplished director. They lead the parade from the school ground, through the main street of town to the highway, then back to the school again.

Today, as then, the round and square dancing lasts till late the last night of the homecoming, till the concessionaires are ready to start disassembling their equipment for an early start to move on to the next town and another show.

Of course the air hereabouts smells like frying fish for several days and there is much litter lying about, but everyone is so tired and so relieved it's all over, that after a good night's rest they pitch in gladly to help with the clean-up job.

And those who participated come away with a feeling of fulfillment that not only did they have a wonderful time, but they have also helped our various organizations to serve their community the better throughout the year.

STOUTSVILLE CAMP ANNUAL YOUTH RALLY

A Special Youth Rally will be conducted on Monday evening, July 25th at 7:30 P.M. The Mowery Family . . . "A Gentle Persuasion thru Music" and Rev. John Maxwell, the speaker.

Local Scouts To Attend National Scout Jamboree

TO SCOUT JAMBOREE — Local scouts attending the ninth National Scout Jamboree at Moraine State Park near Butler, Pa., will be David Conner, Brian Conner, and Barry Williams.

Under the theme "Forward Together, Scouting-USA" is the ninth national Scout Jamboree that will be held August 3 to 9 at Moraine State Park near Butler, Pennsylvania.

Over 28,500 scouts and leaders will attend and the main emphasis is to offer boys a chance to learn leadership and program ideas which they can apply upon their return home to improve the quality of scouting, meet and make new friends with boys from all over the country and all over the world. A National Jamboree is an adventure in fellowship.

There will be about 30 scouts and 3 leaders to a troop. They will be camping in tents, doing their own cooking patrol style. The camp will feature competitive events with bronze, silver, and gold medals awarded winners of patrol and individual events, with national champions being determined.

The waterfront and the range will offer swimming from six beaches, use of 150 rowboats, 250 canoes, and 100 Sundowner-class sailboats.

A merit badge midway and arts and science fair will offer the scout participation in 60 merit badge fields. The art and science fair will offer Scout exhibits and demonstrations in photography, painting and drawing, sculpture, music, literature, crafts, and science. Outstanding judges will evaluate the entries.

The national cooking and baking contest will be an exciting event every scout can enter. The scout must cook a main dish for four persons or bake any type of baked good for four persons on a charcoal grill outside. Some of the nation's top experts will be on hand to do the final judging.

There will be top name entertainment and a bicentennial bombardment of fireworks, campfires, with stunts and stories.

The scouts from central Ohio will leave from Eastland Shopping Center, on a Greyhound bus August 2 with the National Guard hauling the gear. They will return August 11.

Local scouts attending are: David Conner, a First Class Scout, Troop 52, sponsored by the Circleville Kiwanis Club; Brian Conner, a Life Scout, Leadership Corps, Order of Arrow, Jr. Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 52; and Barry Williams, an Eagle Scout with a Silver Palm, Leadership Corps, Brotherhood - Order of Arrow, sponsored by the American Legion.

Derby News

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 896-2462

In her sermon at the Derby United Methodist Church Sunday morning, the Reverend Linda Stafford explained to her congregation the difference between being religious, and being a Christian.

You haven't heard real singing till you hear Nancy Smith, Jody Durlinger, and Linda Ridgway's rendition of "In The Garden". Flowers for the altar are given by Geneva Graham for the month of July.

Greeters were Mickey and Rhonda Phillips.

A carry-in supper held at the Derby Church Sunday evening was well attended. Our pastor is making friends with her congregation, and with her neighbors. We want to make her feel welcome and hope she will enjoy living and working in the community.

Please remember the following with prayer: Florence Ball, Ruth Ridgway, Lloyd Grabill, Mabel Stoer, Edmund Neal, recuperating at home, Irma Clark and Linda Miller, hospitalized, and the following are feeling very poorly at home; Mrs. Ellie Cox, Mrs. Lillian Nance, Mrs. Raleigh Conley, and also Bill Erb whose condition remains about the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Conway, Shelley, Pat, and Joe, enjoyed a week's vacation in Florida recently; while there they visited with Jeanne's cousin, Mrs. Patty Bartlett Route and family.

Mrs. Leroy (Goldie) Phillips son Jerry and family of Delaware were Saturday night supper guests of her sister-in-law and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Spangler and family; evening callers were (Mrs. Spangler's sister) Mr. and Mrs. Howard Funk of Cemetery road, Mt. Sterling.

From the Southwest Church of the Nazarene: Students completing Child Evangelism Training this summer are Minda Caudill, Cindy Langford, Selina Puckett, Kathy Priest, and Shawn Doddroe.

The movie "The Conversion of Colonel Bottomly" was shown on Sunday night. On Monday night, a Youth N' Missions Rally was held at the District Camp Grounds with a Giant Choir and Orchestra for young people from the Church ages 12-23. The speaker was Armond Doll, missionary to Mozambique, Africa, and author of "Toothpaste Express", relating the story of his imprisonment there for a year.

Summer Bible School will be held from August 15-19 at the Southwest Church. On Monday and Tuesday The District Missions Convention, and Wednesday through Friday the Central Ohio District Assembly is being held.

The 63rd annual Homecoming and Fish Fry will be held in a few weeks; did you ever wonder how and when it all began? It was first held in the Bauhan woods in September, 1914 to climax the successful harvest season. Conceived and organized by members of Derby's I.O.O.F. Lodge 770, it had been discussed for several years. They made their plans with an eye to the sky-if it rained the long awaited affair could become a muddy disaster.

Each member gave of his spare time, erecting booths, building a dance floor, getting the local musical talent together for the old time round and square dancing which would take place in the evening. A caller was hired; for many years Gene Price, Derby born, was the caller; he held the title of State champion caller for a long time, and has since passed away.

They built a place to fry the fish, and used coal for fuel. Early that day, each member stood ready to take his turn "slaving over a hot fire" frying the fish to perfection. They had decided to have one day at that time, and all the planned events were crammed into it.

The ladies of the Derby W.C.T.U. served homemade cake, pie, and other delicacies, along with soup, sandwiches, coffee, tea, and soda pop for refreshments. All the town folks were there, old and young alike and those who had married and moved away came from far and near to see old friends and to show off their families.

For the children there was a merry-go-round, games, balloons and cotton candy, and for the young men, a chance to test their skill at winning a prize for the girl friend. More often than not, this was a kewpie doll with colorful feather costume, a fancy cane, or a paper snake which unrolled with a weird sound when you blew on it. The big prize was generally a big doll or a beautiful dish for milady's hope chest. There were contests for the prettiest baby, newest married couple, the longest married, the oldest resident, and one to pick the most popular among the village belles, the forerunner of today's Miss Derby Homecoming.

There was a potato sack race, horseshoe pitching, a pet contest, and a booth where a man with a big voice cried, "Here you are, three balls for a nickel, and win a big prize here!" or wooden ducks to shoot at.

Over the years the rides and games changed and increased in variety, the ferris wheel, gasoline operated then, and at first considered extremely dangerous became electrically operated and a popular attraction at the homecomings. Yes, our first homecoming was a big success here and at surrounding towns where they were held.

As they increased in popularity, it was felt necessary to also increase the one day period to two days, then three. Then the fish fry was moved from the woods area to the center of town. The frequently muddy field was no longer an ideal spot for so many visitors, and definitely not very impressive, nor convenient.

A dance pavilion was constructed each year on London Street for the nightly and popular dancing. For awhile a horse show was held in the woods area. The tractor pull was held in Mr. Geesling's field at the crossroads, proving to be a big attraction. It was also moved to the woods later.

Today, many changes have taken place - the ferris wheel lost some of its attraction when the loop-the-loop and whip came along. Other rides soon took their place, and today the I.O.O.F. Lodge and Derby Men's Club combine to sponsor the homecomings, starting as early as January with plans for the next one.

The Derby Garden Club started in 1955, is now a large part of this event with their annual flower show held in the Church's Fellowship Hall and they always enter a float in the parade. They start many months in advance, selecting a committee, ordering decorating materials, ribbons for the awards, then judges are chosen, tables set up for the exhibits, and the hall decorated; a theme must be selected for their float, often a particular nursery rhyme, and last year, the bicentennial. Their floats are also entered in other events in nearby towns, and have won many prizes for the club over the years.

For the past six years they have had their own wagon with which to carry their entry in the parade. Entries for the flower show are judged and are on display from 6:30-9 p.m. on Friday evening and on Saturday from 1-8 p.m. This year they also plan an educational show which includes preparation for canning and freezing foods. But no matter how early they start, there is always that last minute rush as members work feverishly to complete the float, and the arrangements for the flower show.

On Saturday morning all contest winners assemble at the schoolground for the grand parade, which is led by the Pride of the Mustangs, Westfall High School's talented and colorful Marching Band, now directed by a Westfall alumnus, Mark Hosler. There is now a total of 120 members in the band today; this includes the majorettes and flag bearers. They practice every Thursday evening constantly. Members will attend band camp from August 7-12 at the Proctor Conference Center at Sedalia, Ohio. They are truly fine musicians and have a very accomplished director. They lead the parade from the school ground, through the main street of town to the highway, then back to the school again.

Today, as then, the round and square dancing lasts till late the last night of the homecoming, till the concessionaires are ready to start disassembling their equipment for an early start to move on to the next town and another show.

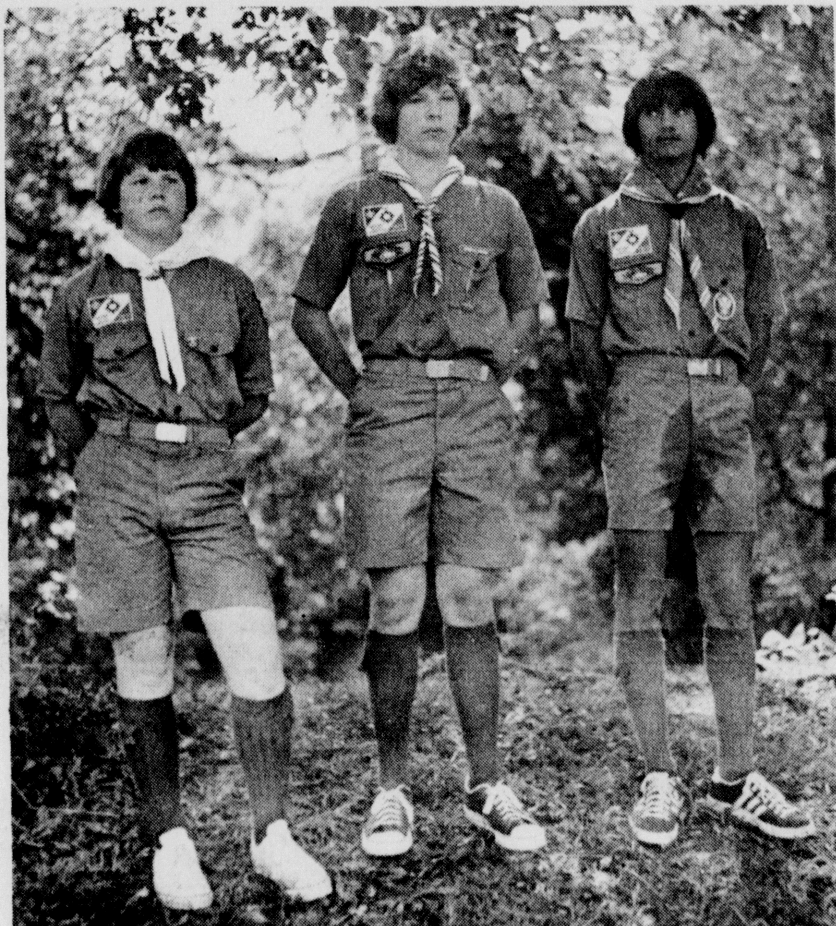

Of course the air hereabouts smells like frying fish for several days and there is much litter lying about, but everyone is so tired and so relieved it's all over, that after a good night's rest they pitch in gladly to help with the clean-up job.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio today denied a Dayton Power & Light Co. request for a $30 million rate increase to electricity customers.

In granting only slightly more than $500,000 in increases for electricity, the commission's two Republican members expressed "satisfaction with the result because only $567,000 of a $30 million request was granted."

In a companion case in which DP&L had sought a $14 million rate increase for natural gas customers, the commission allowed $6.2 million.

In a third case, the company had asked for $1.2 million increase for steam service it provides in the Dayton area. The commission granted virtually all of that request.

Commission Chairman C. Luther Heckman, during comments on the decisions, took care to insure interested parties that precedents had not been set. Such major reductions in increased grants, however, are unusual.

Consumers' Counsel William Spratley who fought the increase said Thursday the denial would be a victory for his office and Ohio utility users.

"We even think there is evidence that they should have their rates ordered decreased," Spratley said Thursday.

Spratley's office has spent roughly $50,000 fighting the increase, the decision on which he claims will be precedent setting. DP&L, by contrast, has reported to PUCO it spent almost a quarter of a million to push for the boost.

This case is the first concerning such a large amount of money that the commission will have determined under a 1½-year-old law in Ohio which changes the method utilities may use in determining their rate bases. It is

FTC, FDA Both Issue Warnings To Consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warning to smokers: Cigarettes may kill you.

Warning to women: Prolonged use of estrogen, a sex hormone, may increase your risk of cancer.

Warning to food makers: Watch what you say about your low-calorie foods, and how you say it.

In separate announcements Wednesday, the federal government moved to give you protection and more information about products you use every day:

—The Federal Trade Commission asked Congress to approve a new warning label for cigarette packs. The agency says the old warning that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health understates the hazard.

—The Food and Drug Administration ordered manufacturers of estrogen to provide to every user of the hormone a brochure warning that prolonged use increases the risk of cancer of the uterus. The brochure also says there may be a relationship between the drug, used to treat menopausal problems, and other types of cancer.

—And the FDA proposed new rules on what foods can claim to be low calorie and restricting advertising that makes such claims.

In its annual report to Congress for 1976, the FTC asked lawmakers to consider two possible new warnings to replace the one used on cigarette packages since 1970.

to what it actually cost.

The law further requires that the PUCO decide cases within nine months or the utility may put into effect its proposed increase subject to refunds if the PUCO later rejects the increase or reduces it.

"Warning: Cigarette Smoking is dangerous to Health, and May Cause Death from Cancer, Coronary Heart Disease, Chronic Bronchitis, Pulmonary Emphysema and Other Diseases," was one alternative.

The second was: "Warning: Cigarette Smoking is a Major Health Hazard and May Result in Your Death."

In announcing the brochures for users of estrogen, the FDA said it wants the warnings printed in common language, so everyone can understand them. Distribution must start by Sept. 21.

In a companion case in which DP&L had sought a $14 million rate increase for natural gas customers, the commission allowed $6.2 million.

In a third case, the company had asked for $1.2 million increase for steam service it provides in the Dayton area. The commission granted virtually all of that request.

Commission Chairman C. Luther Heckman, during comments on the decisions, took care to insure interested parties that precedents had not been set. Such major reductions in increased grants, however, are unusual.

Consumers' Counsel William Spratley who fought the increase said Thursday the denial would be a victory for his office and Ohio utility users.

"We even think there is evidence that they should have their rates ordered decreased," Spratley said Thursday.

Spratley's office has spent roughly $50,000 fighting the increase, the decision on which he claims will be precedent setting. DP&L, by contrast, has reported to PUCO it spent almost a quarter of a million to push for the boost.

This case is the first concerning such a large amount of money that the commission will have determined under a 1½-year-old law in Ohio which changes the method utilities may use in determining their rate bases. It is that base against which revenues are compared when the PUCO determines a fair return for the companies.

The new law says that utilities no longer may figure their facility investment by what it would cost today. Instead, they must figure it according to what it actually cost.

The law further requires that the PUCO decide cases within nine months or the utility may put into effect its proposed increase subject to refunds if the PUCO later rejects the increase or reduces it.

FTC, FDA Both Issue Warnings To Consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warning to smokers: Cigarettes may kill you.

Warning to women: Prolonged use of estrogen, a sex hormone, may increase your risk of cancer.

Warning to food makers: Watch what you say about your low-calorie foods, and how you say it.

In separate announcements Wednesday, the federal government moved to give you protection and more information about products you use every day.

—The Federal Trade Commission asked Congress to approve a new warning label for cigarette packs. The agency says the old warning that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health understates the hazard.

—The Food and Drug Administration ordered manufacturers of estrogen to provide to every user of the hormone a brochure warning that prolonged use increases the risk of cancer of the uterus. The brochure also says there may be a relationship between the drug, used to treat menopausal problems, and other types of cancer.

—And the FDA proposed new rules on what foods can claim to be low calorie and restricting advertising that makes such claims.

In its annual report to Congress for 1976, the FTC asked lawmakers to consider two possible new warnings to replace the one used on cigarette packages since 1970.

"Warning: Cigarette Smoking is dangerous to Health, and May Cause Death from Cancer, Coronary Heart Disease, Chronic Bronchitis, Pulmonary Emphysema and Other Diseases," was one alternative.

The second was: "Warning: Cigarette Smoking is a Major Health Hazard and May Result in Your Death."

In announcing the brochures for users of estrogen, the FDA said it wants the warnings printed in common language, so everyone can understand them. Distribution must start by Sept. 21.

I once met a man with a magnificent philosophy of life. He believed very simply that life should be concentrated on trying to give back what we gain.

Our problem seems to be that so much of our time and effort has to be devoted to gaining, that we have little incentive for returning what we work so hard to acquire.

When my daughter poured a bucket of water back into the ocean I began thinking about our churches. They seem to preach my friend's philosophy.

As a matter of fact, that's where he learned it . . .

Info Service Questioned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — How liberated is the Ohio House? That depends on to whom you talk.

If Gov. James A. Rhodes approves, a recently passed bill would set up a "Women's Information Service" in the Legislative Reference Bureau.

It would be "used to provide informational programs and materials concerning women's legal status, the impact of recent law changes, and the rights and remedies legally available to women," according to an analysis of the bill.

Good enough?

Well, at least one lawmaker, Rep. Waldo Bennett Rose, R-64 Lima, said the whole notion smacked of special treatment to the extent that it demeaned women.

"I guess women are not people," Rose said in floor debate. "I guess they are not thought of as capable of participating in general access to information provided in this state."

Freshman Rep. Edith Mayer, R-22 Cincinnati, hoped to persuade majority Democrats on a House subcommittee to adopt at least one GOP amendment to a public employee collective bargaining bill.

After she and Rep. Harry Turner, R-76 Mount Vernon, had a long series of amendments rejected, Mrs. Mayer offered one which would have changed the name of the proposed State Employees Relations Board (SERB) to Public Employees Relations Board (PERB). She said the bill was for all public workers in Ohio, not just state employees.

However, Chairman J. Leonard Camera, D-53 Lorain, defended the bill's Senate authorship, and the amendment lost. "But 'PERB' does have a nice, ethnic ring to it," said the Lorain County lawmaker of Italian extraction.

Research Project Guides Tree Planting In Cities

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Planting a tree in the city can be a game of chance.

Will it grow too tall and interfere with utility lines? Will its roots clog storm sewers and drains or crack sidewalks?

Will it survive at all? P.C. Kozel, horticulturist for the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, says a research project over the past decade has helped eliminate a lot of these unknowns.

The project has the support of several Ohio utility companies, the research and development center, Ohio Chapter of the International Shade Tree Conference and the Ohio nursery industry.

Kozel, who heads the project, believes it to be the most comprehensive of its kind in the nation.

The need for new trees in urban areas grew with the decline and disappearance of the disease-ravaged American Elm, once this country's premier shade tree.

Kozel notes that a lot of mistakes went, in the past, to selection of trees poorly adapted to the unnatural city environment. Many could not survive because of insufficient light and water, polluted air, high wind currents, heat radiation and temperature changes.

If they did survive many were crippled with poor branching habits, fruit and bark litter.

The Ohio Shade Tree Evaluation Project is attacking the problem in two ways. It is planting a number of tree species in a random pattern at an evaluation site. Since 1966 it has planted 1,120 trees of 140 different species.

The other phase involves evaluating 53 existing species of trees growing in Toledo, Columbus, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Wooster.

In the first phase, a shade tree committee meets semi-annually to rate trees at the Wooster test site. Check points include density of foliage, color, branch and crotch development, disease and insect susceptibility, height, spread, growth rate and general tree condition.

Kozel said maintenance at the test site is intentionally kept to a minimum so the environment will remain similar to urban planting sites.

Among findings after a decade, Kozel says the Red Sunset Maple and the London Planetrees have developed no major faults, thriving in difficult urban situations.

Trees such as Faureri Gallery Pear, Snowdrift crabapple and Washington Hawthorne have developed good characteristics for planting under overhead structures, such as utility lines.

The Hardy Rubbertree has proven to be among the most drought tolerant of all test trees.

Kozel noted the Sycamore Maple made good growth for five years but is now deteriorating.

Other problems developed with the Kwanzan Cherry and the Sweet Shadow Sugar Maple.

Wife Wants Love — At Home Or Abroad

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 14 years. I love my husband but I'm thinking seriously of having an affair. It's been years now since he's said, "I love you." He can go three or four weeks without making love to me, then it's only because I've suggested it, and I don't really enjoy it when I have to beg for it.

He gets off work at 4 p.m., goes to a bar with his buddies and doesn't come home until 6 or 7. He eats, and then falls asleep in front of the TV before 8. Then he gets up around 10 p.m. and goes to bed.

He's a good father and a good provider, but I can't take it anymore. I need love and affection.

A friend of ours asks me to have an affair with him. I had never even thought of anything like that. Now I can't think of anything else. I haven't made up my mind yet, but if you print this, maybe my husband (or other husbands) will see it and change before it's too late. I really love him and I've tried to get him to a doctor but he refuses. He says he's only 35 and there's nothing wrong with him. Well, I'm only 31 and I need love.

I don't really want to have an affair, but I'm slipping.

HUNGRY FOR LOVE

DEAR HUNGRY: Here's your letter. I hope your husband (and other men who can identify with the above routine) see this and wake up before it's too late.

DEAR ABBY: Our dog will be going to doggy heaven any day now. Frisky is 90 in human years and he's nearly blind and he's so weak he keeps falling down.

We can't bear the thought of putting him to sleep, but want to know where to bury him when the time comes.

We can't afford a plot in the pet cemetery, and he's meant too much to our family to just put him out with the trash. The children want to bury him in our backyard, but I hear there's a law against that. Can you help us?

FRISKY'S FAMILY

DEAR FAMILY: When Frisky dies, phone your local animal shelter. They will come and pick him up. Under no circumstances should you put an animal's remains in a trash can that you intend to use again. And in most areas there are laws against burying animals in a residential section.

Veterans Questions Answered

NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of questions and answers of interest to veterans. These questions are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information on any questions presented in this column, or having any questions concerning the benefits of the Veterans Administration should contact the Veterans Service Officer at 219 South Court Street.

(Q.) Has Congress declared a dividend to all veterans who have held government life insurance policies?

(A.) No. About once a year a letter is sent around stating this and this is wrong. Those veterans who have kept their insurance policies active may be entitled to a dividend depending on their policy.

(Q.) How long does a veteran have to use his educational benefits?

(A.) Ten (10) years from the date of his discharge, (separation from active service.) It must be completed within this time.

(Q.) Will the VA pay for tutorial assistance in addition to monthly rate presently being received?

(A.) Yes. A single veteran who is a full time student will receive $292 for his education. If special tutoring is required, the VA will allow up to $65.00 a month for a period not to exceed twelve (12) months.

(Q.) If a veteran dies of a service-connected disability, will the VA cover the cost of his children's education?

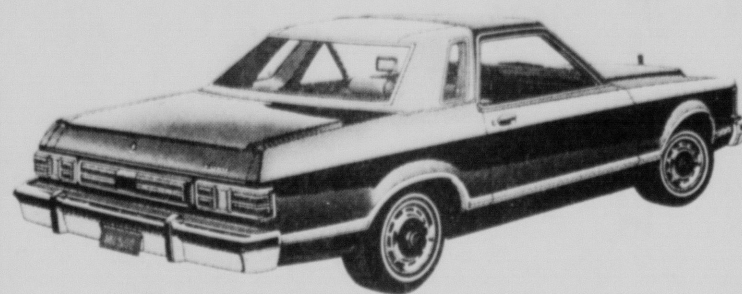

(A.) Yes. For a period of 45 months which is reduced the same as the educational assistance for a veteran.

(Q.) Can decorations, medals or ribbons be supplied by the government if the original ones have been lost or destroyed?

(A.) Yes. By writing the branch of the military that the veteran was in.

A hammer face that is chipped, dented, or cracked should be discarded at once says the Hand Tools Institute.

The Gospel
Jesus Christ

The Lord's Church at Circleville is very proud to have a man with the qualifications and ability of Bro. Jimmy Allen to expound to us the Truths in God's Word.

Jimmy Allen has had tremendous success in Gospel meetings and campaigns for Christ; having preached in about 50 area-wide campaigns. He has preached to more than 2,000,000 people. Nearly 25,000 people have responded to the invitation under his preaching. Approximately 6,000 have been baptized.

Jimmy Allen has a style of preaching all his own. He has a simple, moving presentation of Truth. His background has given him a great sympathy for those in sin who are searching for the Lord.

Is your life without happiness or meaning? If so, you have refused to let Jesus direct your life. Jesus does not promise a life without heartaches (II Tim. 3:12), but the troubles of a true Christian are but microscopic compared to those who refuse Him. To a Christian married couple, unfaithfulness, broken homes, drunkenness, and their associated problems are non-existent. Jesus is the thread that sews a family together. Come, let Jesus enter into your life and realize the happiness that only a Christian can enjoy.

Info Service Questioned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — How liberated is the Ohio House? That depends on to whom you talk.

If Gov. James A. Rhodes approves, a recently passed bill would set up a "Women's Information Service" in the Legislative Reference Bureau.

It would be "used to provide informational programs and materials concerning women's legal status, the impact of recent law changes, and the rights and remedies legally available to women," according to an analysis of the bill.

Good enough?

Well, at least one lawmaker, Rep. Waldo Bennett Rose, R-64 Lima, said the whole notion smacked of special treatment to the extent that it demeaned women.

"I guess women are not people," Rose said in floor debate. "I guess they are not thought of as capable of participating in general access to information provided in this state."

Timberline: A Monument To Creation

GOVERNMENT CAMP, Ore. (AP) — Halfway between the equator and the north pole God raised a great mountain, a monument to nature. Upon it man raised a great edifice, a monument to creation.

The mountain, Mt. Hood, was born of volcanic fire; the edifice, Timberline Lodge, of flaming desperation.

"You couldn't replace Timberline Lodge if it were destroyed any more than you could replace Mt. Hood if it erupted again," said Charles Lake.

"They say it would cost six or eight million dollars to build this lodge today but any figure is meaningless. It couldn't be built today. It is unique."

So it is, and that is one reason Timberline Lodge has been designated a national historic landmark. It is one of a kind.

Charles Lake is one of a kind too, one of a special kind whose sense of wonder at the natural magnificence around him has never dimmed. In these heights and forests, where he has lived all his 35 years, each day holds mystery and adventure.

Charles Lake, an erect, bigshouldered man, is the engineer for Timberline Lodge, the one who sees to its good repair. He does so fondly. He also doubles as assistant manager, keeping books balanced and guests happy.

Timberline Lodge was a WPA project.

When President Roosevelt established the Works Project Administration to combat the Great Depression, hundreds of idled artisans and craftsmen climbed the slopes of Mt. Hood, built a tent city at Government Camp, and went to work.

They cut timber from the mountain's flank and pried up boulders to fashion massive walls and beams to match the massive mountain.

Always the mountain challenged them, the awesome 11,245-foot peak looking down on their endeavors like a snowcrowned overlord.

"It inspired them," Charles Lake said. "They felt they had to equal its grandeur. If a beam wasn't just right or a joint didn't fit perfectly they made a new one. If the design didn't suit them they changed it as they went along. Their only standard was excellence."

Charles Lake aims to keep it that way. It wasn't easy. If something needs replacing, a hand-forged hinge, say, or a hand-hewn board, he regards it his bounded duty to replace it just as it was, not with some assembly-line substitute.

Research Project Guides Tree Planting In Cities

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Planting a tree in the city can be a game of chance.

Will it grow too tall and interfere with utility lines? Will its roots clog storm sewers and drains or crack sidewalks?

Will it survive at all?

P.C. Kozel, horticulturist for the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, says a research project over the past decade has helped eliminate a lot of these unknowns.

The project has the support of several Ohio utility companies, the research and development center, Ohio Chapter of the International Shade Tree Conference and the Ohio nursery industry.

Kozel, who heads the project, believes it to be the most comprehensive of its kind in the nation.

The need for new trees in urban areas grew with the decline and disappearance of the disease-ravaged American Elm, once this country's premier shade tree.

Kozel notes that a lot of mistakes went, in the past, to selection of trees poorly adapted to the unnatural city environment. Many could not survive because of insufficient light and water, polluted air, high wind currents, heat radiation and temperature changes.

If they did survive many were crippled with poor branching habits, fruit and bark litter.

The Ohio Shade Tree Evaluation Project is attacking the problem in two ways. It is planting a number of tree species in a random pattern at an evaluation site. Since 1966 it has planted 1,120 trees of 140 different species.

The other phase involves evaluating 53 existing species of trees growing in Toledo, Columbus, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Wooster.

In the first phase, a shade tree committee meets semi-annually to rate trees at the Wooster test site. Check points include density of foliage, color, branch and crotch development, disease and insect susceptibility, height, spread, growth rate and general tree condition.

Kozel said maintenance at the test site is intentionally kept to a minimum so the environment will remain similar to urban planting sites.

Among findings after a decade, Kozel says the Red Sunset Maple and the London Planetrees have developed no major faults, thriving in difficult urban situations.

Trees such as Faureri Callery Pear, Snowdrift crabapple and Washington Hawthorne have developed good characteristics for planting under overhead structures, such as utility lines.

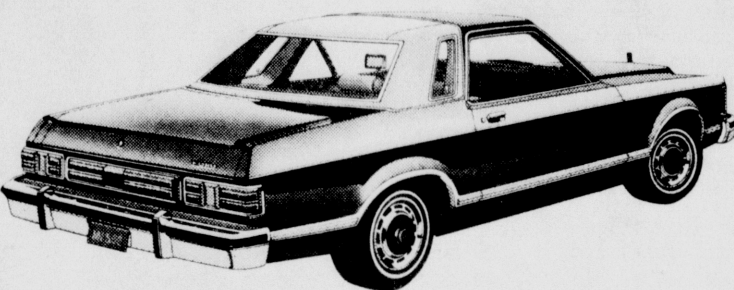

The Hardy Rubbertree has proven to be among the most drought tolerant of all test trees.

Kozel noted the Sycamore Maple made good growth for five years but is now deteriorating.

Other problems developed with the Kwanzan Cherry and the Sweet Shadow Sugar Maple.

Mr. Richard Ballard flew to Texas to visit the Lynn Ballards and the David Ballards and the rehearsal dinner on Friday evening, and the wedding and reception on Saturday evening.

Busing Restrictions Bill Foes Hopeful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of a bill restricting courtordered school busing are hoping another round of Senate Judiciary Committee hearings will aid their fight.

They say they particularly want the Justice Department to come out publicly against the measure. One senator said Atty. Gen. Griffin B. Bell has done so in a memorandum to President Carter.

But with the hearings resuming today, it was uncertain if and when a Justice Department representative might testify and whether the attorney general's memo to Carter would be made public.

The bill would require a court to find "a discriminatory purpose in education" as a principal motivating factor in any constitutional violation for which student busing was ordered as a remedy.

And, busing could be ordered only to the extent necessary to overcome segregation resulting from such intentional discrimination.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee's chairman, asked Bell for the department's views on the bill after its opponents blocked a committee vote Wednesday. Opponents conceded a majority of the committee support it.

Sen. Joseph R. Biden, Jr., a judiciary committee member who introduced the bill, said it is in line with recent Supreme Court decisions. But opponents argue it would go beyond the court's rulings in curtailing school busing.

One of the senators fighting the bill, Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, said at Wednesday's committee meeting President Carter agreed with Bell's assessment of the measure as unnecessary and undesirable.

He said the President and the attorney general believe recent Supreme Court decisions substantially achieve the goals sought by the bill and that the legislation would cause ambiguities and delays in the use of busing for school desegregation.

Biden agreed Carter and Bell oppose the bill but said they do not contend it is unconstitutional, an argument that has been raised against most antibusing measures in the past.

He said the Justice Department has declined to testify on the bill. Metzenbaum and other opponents said the committee and the Senate should have the benefit of the department's views.

Metzenbaum also urged the hearings be reopened to hear from the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, the American Federation of Teachers and others who he said wanted to testify in opposition to the bill.

Biden said the demands for more hearings reflect a sudden realization by opponents that an antibusing bill could be approved by the committee. He said opponents are taking the measure seriously and want to kill it by delaying tactics.

Biden said if the committee fails to act promptly on the bill, it has no chance of being passed during this session of Congress.

Ohio To Embark On Savings Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is about to embark on an experiment that could lead to savings of up to $124 million a year in Medicaid (indigent health care) costs, say the Senate sponsors of the enabling legislation.

Senate Finance Chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, said Wednesday, as his bill received 33-0 approval, that it could become "landmark" legislation copied by other states also reeling under skyrocketing health care costs.

Under the bill, which went to the House for expected approval, the welfare department would undertake experimental programs that would move many patients out of hospitals, where costs average about $200 a day, and place them in skilled or other types of nursing homes which can adequately provide the level of care needed, at $45 a day, or less.

Meshel said there is evidence that many Medicaid patients now confined to hospitals actually don't need 24-hour, skilled professional care.

Under the bill, which carries a $500,000 appropriation, the welfare department could make grants or enter into contracts for small scale demonstration projects to investigate and evaluate quality of care and cost containment solutions.

State agency rules and regulations would be waived if it were shown they interfered with the purpose of the demonstration, and department officials could request waiver of restrictive rules of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Pickaway-Ross Completes Staff

At the Pickaway Ross Vocational Center meeting one employee was hired to complete the staff for the next school year.

Mrs. Candace Hunter was employed as teacher for the Food Service area. She has taught two years at Columbian High School.

The board placed orders for school supplies totaling approximately $20 thousand.

Based on low quotations, bread and milk were awarded to Borden and the Betsy Ross Bakery received orders for baked produce.

Enrollment was reviewed for next school term. It includes 501 juniors, 335 seniors for a total of 836.

Dr. George Schaff was chosen as delegate to the Annual Ohio School Board Association meeting and Mrs. Shirley Wylie was appointed alternate.

Village OKs No Parking Ordinance

Darbyville Mayor Marietta Knece, after an emergency meeting of the council, announced that an ordinance was passed prohibiting the blocking of alleys by vehicles.

The ordinance will go into effect July 21, and will be enforced by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. Signs will be erected shortly.

"From this day forth, residents of the village of Darbyville who have petty grievances or complaints will bring them to the council meetings and not to the residences of the council members or the mayor," stated Mayor Knece, with all of the council agreeing.

Darbyville council meets the first Monday of every month at 7:30 p.m.

UD Selected For Federal Contract

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The University of Dayton School of Engineering has received a $1.2 million three-year contract from the U.S. Air Force which will involve as many as 50 separate assignments each year.

Dr. Jay Pinson, associate dean and director of graduate studies and research, will serve as program director. He estimated that 50 per cent of the researchers will be recruited from the university.

Busing Restrictions Bill Foes Hopeful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of a bill restricting courtordered school busing are hoping another round of Senate Judiciary Committee hearings will aid their fight.

They say they particularly want the Justice Department to come out publicly against the measure. One senator said Atty. Gen. Griffin B. Bell has done so in a memorandum to President Carter.

But with the hearings resuming today, it was uncertain if and when a Justice Department representative might testify and whether the attorney general's memo to Carter would be made public.

The bill would require a court to find "a discriminatory purpose in education" as a principal motivating factor in any constitutional violation for which student busing was ordered as a remedy.

And, busing could be ordered only to the extent necessary to overcome segregation resulting from such intentional discrimination.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee's chairman, asked Bell for the department's views on the bill after its opponents blocked a committee vote Wednesday. Opponents conceded a majority of the committee support it.

Sen. Joseph R. Biden, Jr., a judiciary committee member who introduced the bill, said it is in line with recent Supreme Court decisions. But opponents argue it would go beyond the court's rulings in curtailing school busing.

One of the senators fighting the bill, Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, said at Wednesday's committee meeting President Carter agreed with Bell's assessment of the measure as unnecessary and undesirable.

He said the President and the attorney general believe recent Supreme Court decisions substantially achieve the goals sought by the bill and that the legislation would cause ambiguities and delays in the use of busing for school desegregation.

Biden agreed Carter and Bell oppose the bill but said they do not contend it is unconstitutional, an argument that has been raised against most antibusing measures in the past.

He said the Justice Department has declined to testify on the bill. Metzenbaum and other opponents said the committee and the Senate should have the benefit of the department's views.

Metzenbaum also urged the hearings be reopened to hear from the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, the American Federation of Teachers and others who he said wanted to testify in opposition to the bill.

Biden said the demands for more hearings reflect a sudden realization by opponents that an antibusing bill could be approved by the committee. He said opponents are taking the measure seriously and want to kill it by delaying tactics.

Biden said if the committee fails to act promptly on the bill, it has no chance of being passed during this session of Congress.

Ohio To Embark On Savings Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is about to embark on an experiment that could lead to savings of up to $124 million a year in Medicaid (indigent health care) costs, say the Senate sponsors of the enabling legislation.

Senate Finance Chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, said Wednesday, as his bill received 33-0 approval, that it could become "landmark" legislation copied by other states also reeling under skyrocketing health care costs.

Under the bill, which went to the House for expected approval, the welfare department would undertake experimental programs that would move many patients out of hospitals, where costs average about $200 a day, and place them in skilled or other types of nursing homes which can adequately provide the level of care needed, at $45 a day, or less.

Meshel said there is evidence that many Medicaid patients now confined to hospitals actually don't need 24-hour, skilled professional care.

Under the bill, which carries a $500,000 appropriation, the welfare department could make grants or enter into contracts for small scale demonstration projects to investigate and evaluate quality of care and cost containment solutions.

State agency rules and regulations would be waived if it were shown they interfered with the purpose of the demonstration, and department officials could request waiver of restrictive rules of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Pickaway-Ross Completes Staff

At the Pickaway Ross Vocational Center meeting one employee was hired to complete the staff for the next school year.

Mrs. Candace Hunter was employed as teacher for the Food Service area. She has taught two years at Columbiana High School.

The board placed orders for school supplies totaling approximately $20 thousand.

Based on low quotations, bread and milk were awarded to Borden and the Betsy Ross Bakery received orders for baked produce.

Enrollment was reviewed for next school term. It includes 501 juniors, 335 seniors for a total of 836.

Dr. George Schaff was chosen as delegate to the Annual Ohio School Board Association meeting and Mrs. Shirley Wylie was appointed alternate.

Village OKs No Parking Ordinance

Darbyville Mayor Marietta Knece, after an emergency meeting of the council, announced that an ordinance was passed prohibiting the blocking of alleys by vehicles.

The ordinance will go into effect July 21, and will be enforced by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. Signs will be erected shortly.

"From this day forth, residents of the village of Darbyville who have petty grievances or complaints will bring them to the council meetings and not to the residences of the council members or the mayor," stated Mayor Knece, with all of the council agreeing.

Darbyville council meets the first Monday of every month at 7:30 p.m.

UD Selected For Federal Contract

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The University of Dayton School of Engineering has received a $1.2 million three-year contract from the U.S. Air Force which will involve as many as 50 separate assignments each year.

Dr. Jay Pinson, associate dean and director of graduate studies and research, will serve as program director. He estimated that 50 per cent of the researchers will be recruited from the university.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

United States Postal Service managers are mulling over the idea of cutting back home mail delivery from six to five days a week. They accepted the recommendation by a special commission studying the postal service just about as readily as they accept increases in first class postal rates.

It seems appropriate at this point that Congress let the Postal Service know exactly how it feels about the five-day proposal, which would have the effect of ending Saturday delivery. To that end, I have joined in sponsoring a resolution expressing the sense of Congress that the Postal Service should not reduce mail delivery from its present level.

Almost 160 members of the House are already listed as co-sponsors. Although only in resolution form, this action is designed to express clearly the sentiment of the House on the issue, and in explicit language that the postal brass cannot possibly fail to understand.

More comprehensive postal reform legislation, which would mandate a continuation of six-day delivery service, will be considered by the Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

Bloody Fight Rages Along Thai Border

ARANYAPRATHET, Thailand (AP) — Thai troops backed by artillery and aircraft battled again today with Cambodian forces in the third day of a bloody border dispute, Thai military commanders said.

They reported no new Thai casualties. At least 17 Thais were killed and about 50 others wounded in clashes Wednesday and Thursday.

The fighting centers around the village of Noi Parai, 140 miles east of Bangkok, an area of rice paddies and scrub land claimed by both Thailand and Cambodia.

Reports said Thai artillery and aircraft, hampered by monsoon rains, were attempting to knock out Cambodian emplacements around the village.

The black-clad Cambodian Communist troops, reportedly about 100 yards from Thai forward positions, countered with small-arms fire and rocket-propelled grenades.

A military spokesman said Thai troops would not push into Cambodia because "it would allow a third or fourth hand to intervene in the matter which would lead to war between the two countries." He did not elaborate.

Thai sources said Cambodian casualties were high, but they gave no estimates.

Officials of Thailand's rightwing military government had said earlier they received reports that 30 Cambodians were killed in the previous fighting, but again there was no confirmation.

CB Agitators Discuss Pork Roast

At the Agitators of America Club meeting July 9, several awards were given out and plans for the pork roast were discussed.

It was decided to hold the pork roast 6 p.m. July 23 at the Corn Shellers "home 20." This is for anybody interested in the Agitators of America Club and families.

Please bring a covered dish table service and lounge chairs to the Sheller's home, located on the Crouse Chapel Road.

Agitator of the month was Fire Bird; Bucket Mouth Award was given to Free-loader and the raffle was won by the Number One Agitator, Frog. The prize was a picnic basket.

Plans were also discussed for a yearly calendar, raffle on a Tea Berry Base 40-Channel C.B. Radio, and the Round and Square Dance.

Lottery Winner Bids Tire Plant Farewell

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Andrew Yanai's days as a laborer at the General Tire Co. in Newcomerstown are over. Ohio's newest millionaire now has plans that call for immediate retirement and lots of traveling.

Yanai, 56, on Thursday won the Ohio lottery's top prize of $50,000 a year for 20 years.

Yanai's wife and daughters, Patricia Yanai and Susan Hursey, both of Newcomerstown, were in the audience cheering when he was led to center stage at the Ohio Theater by master of ceremonies Jim Reed.

The state's 12th instant millionaire looked stunned and could only say

"great" when Reed asked him how he felt.

Moments before, Rose Teras of Cleveland was selected as the lottery's $100,000 winner, and Bert Linderman of Rocky River was announced as the $50,000 winner.

Unlike Yanai, Miss Teras said she will be back at her job this morning as a coil inserter for Lear Siegler, Inc. "I have to go in at 7 a.m. That's an hour earlier than usual."

Miss Teras, who declined to give her age, said she has plans to buy a home — "nothing much" — with the $10,000 a year she will receive for each of the next 10 years.

Linderman, 68, who is retired after 32 years as a long-haul truck driver, said he had no special plans for his $10,000 a year for five years. "But I'm not going to spend it foolishly," he said.

Yanai, dressed in a limegreen leisure suit and still nervous a half hour after his selection, told reporters how a "saloonkeeper" friend in Newcomerstown, some 15 miles south of New Philadelphia, had predicted his good fortune.

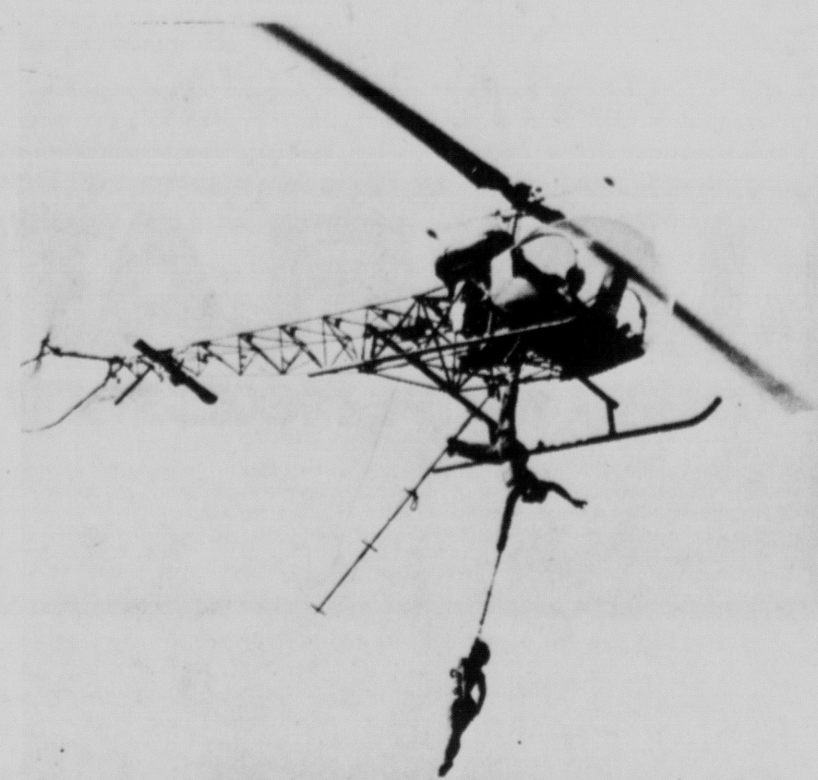

"Several weeks ago Tony Nigro asked me how old I was and when I was born. I came back some time later, about three weeks ago, and he told me I was going to win the lottery," Yanai said.

"I didn't believe him," he added. "I didn't believe in that stuff (horoscopes). But I'm a firm believer now."

Yanai said he has been buying tickets since the lottery's inception at the rate of $1 to $5 a week, but Thursday was the first time he has won anything. He added that he doesn't like the generally popular "instant lottery" game. "That gets into gambling. It's too hard to quit."

Thrill Circus At State Fair

MICHELE AND MICHAEL

Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Thrill Circus, appearing Aug. 22 through Aug. 28 at the Ohio State Fair, will feature many top rated circus acts.

Michele and Michael will perform the world's most thrilling helicopter trapeze act, hundreds of feet above the ground.

The human cannonballs, Edmondo and Hugo Zacchini, are considered to be the world's greatest closing thrill act of all time. The Zacchini family is the third generation of human cannonball circus acts.

Karl Wallenda and his family will perform their world famous pyramid walk atop a high wire. Maintaining perfect balance is a must during their act, for one slip could send them all falling to the ground far below. This act is sure to be a crowd pleaser.

The Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Thrill Circus will perform twice a day during the second week of the Ohio State Fair.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

The Ohio House of Representatives passed and sent to the Senate, legislation to reduce home heating costs for low income elderly or disabled persons.

The legislation, House Bill 230, is similar to legislation scuttled earlier this month by the minority caucus.

House Bill 230 would grant heating bill credits to householders whose total income does not exceed $7,000 per year and who are either at least 65 years of age or totally disabled. The bill is sponsored by Representative Dennis Eckart.

Wednesday, the House passed on to the Senate tax incentive legislation designed to encourage industries to use alternate fuels and recover waste energy.

The legislation, House Bill 467 sponsored by Representative Tom Carney, would exempt certain commercial energy equipment from sales, property, and corporate franchise taxes. Eligible equipment would include energy conversion facilities for converting to fuels other than natural gas or fuel oil and energy recovery systems for recovering waste energy such as waste heat or steam. Also, equipment generating energy from waste materials would be eligible for the tax exemption.

In another energy development, the House Energy and Environment Committee has recommended the creation of an Ohio Department of Energy. The new department would be a cabinet-level department and would replace the existing Energy Resources and Development Agency. The department would have broader powers and responsibilities than the present agency in order to better manage Ohio's energy sources and supplies.

In other committee action the House Commerce and Labor Committee has been refining the public employee collective bargaining bill, Senate Bill 222.

The bill would permit public employees to bargain collectively with their employer concerning wages, hours, and conditions of employment. A State Employment Relations Board would be empowered to mediate any collective bargaining disputes. A limited right for some public employees to strike would be permitted if the collective bargaining and mediation procedures reach an impasse.

The bill would replace the outdated Ferguson Act which has proven to be ineffective in public employee-employer relations.

The full House will consider Senate Bill 222 next week.

PD Checks Pharmacy Burglary

The Circleville Police Department is investigating a reported burglary discovered Thursday morning at the Risch Drugstore on North Court Street.

According to the report, Harry Seurkamp, pharmacist at Risch's discovered a quantity of Valium missing when he started to fill a prescription Thursday morning.

Sgt. Larry Pontious of the Circleville Police Department stated that the subjects who entered the building did so by prying open a basement window on the southeastern side of the building and removing the entire window frame.

Taken in the burglary were two partial bottles of Valium and one partial bottle of Phenobarbital. The total value of the missing items was set at $80.

Woman Claims Rape, Assault

The Circleville Police reported an incident of apparent rape and assault in Pickaway County late Thursday night or early this morning.

According to the report, Sgt. Ken Henn found a woman walking east on W. Main St. at 4:34 a.m. this morning. She had no clothes, according to the report.

The woman, identified as Ms. Lorrie Ann Green, 18, of Columbus, told Sgt. Henn that she had been raped and assaulted by a white male, approximately five feet, six inches tall and weighing 130 pounds.

She was taken to Berger Hospital for examination, and the report stated that she appeared to have been struck about the face several times.

Ms. Green told Sgt. Henn that she had met the subject on Parsons Ave. in Columbus, and that he had driven her to Pickaway County. The incident took place on Route 22, just west of the Scioto River bridge.

After the alleged attack, the assailant took Ms. Green's clothing and her purse which contained $10 in cash, stated Henn's report.

The investigation was turned over to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Farm Bureau Contributes To CAUV

Pickaway County Farm Bureau voted at their July board meeting to contribute financially to Summit County Farm Bureau for its fight to have current agricultural land use value (CAUV) applications accepted by the county.

CAUV was passed in Ohio's General Assembly in 1974 and became effective for the first time on 1975 taxes which were collected in 1976. CAUV means that agricultural land is appraised for taxes on its agricultural use rather than market value.

In the spring of 1976, the Summit County auditor wanted most of the 1975 and 1976 farm applications for CAUV withdrawn and the recompout for 1975 taxes paid. Members of the Summit County Farm Bureau joined together and filed a law suit against the auditor because he would not accept the CAUV applications.

The case was heard in Summit County Common Pleas Court in December, 1976, and the judge issued a court order in January which stated that the 23 plaintiffs were acceptable for the 1975-76 CAUV assessments.

However, even with the judge's ruling for the acceptance of CAUV, the Summit County landowners had to file complaints with the Summit County Board of Revisions to get the value of their buildings established at a realistic level.

Their requests with the Board of Revisions were ignored and now the problem is being taken to the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals by the Summit County Farm Bureau to have the problem solved.

"This case now has statewide implications and we (Pickaway County Farm Bureau) will do our part to help fight the problem and have CAUV applications accepted by every county auditor in the state," says Ed Taylor, president of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau.

Rhode's Veto Sets Battle Teacher-Tenure Bill Rejected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The stage has been set for another confrontation between the "veto-proof" Democratic majority and Gov. James A. Rhodes with the governor's rejection of a bill to provide extensive due process rights for public school teachers.

Rep. Mike Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, sponsor of the teacher tenure bill, said Thursday he would attempt to line up enough votes to override the governor in the House before summer adjournment, a week from today.

Rhodes, in a veto message, called the bill "another attempt by the leadership of a state teachers' organization to wrest control of elementary and secondary education from the public and their elected representatives."

His reference was to the Ohio Education Association, a powerful lobby representing more than 80,000 teachers, which pressed for passage of the bill.

It was the fourth time this year that the governor has vetoed all or part of legislation approved by the Democrat-controlled General Assembly. He has been overridden twice, with a third bill left pending.

Rhodes, who vetoed a similar bill more than a year ago, said, "It further continues the practice of mandating new costs upon local school districts without providing the necessary funds for implementation."

"It is a deplorable condition when the leadership of a single lobby can impose its self-interest upon the General Assembly, every school district in the state and every taxpayer and parent in the state without helping Ohio's school children."

The bill, dubbed "instant tenure" by Republican opponents in the legislature, would require regular evaluation of teachers, while establishing three types of contracts:

—First year probationary teachers would have the right to be informed in writing when they faced dismissal and could ask for a meeting with the school superintendent.

—Teachers with probationary contracts, but more than one year experience, could request a hearing on a dismissal order before the school board, but would have to accept the board's decision as final. "Just cause" for the firing would have to be established.

—Teachers with more than three years' experience would get limited contracts unless they completed 18 semester hours of continuing education. They could request a dismissal hearing before an impartial referee who would advise the school board.

—Continuing contracts would be given to teachers with more than three years experience and the 18 hours requirement. They would be entitled to a hearing before a referee who could issue a binding decision on their employment situation.

In the latter case, both parties could appeal decisions to the common pleas court.

The teacher job protection provisions are tied to evaluation procedures, which would have to be adopted by all public school districts by March 1, 1978. Starting teachers would have to be evaluated twice in their first year, and others once each year, with the exception of teachers that have continuing contracts; they would face evaluation every other year.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

The Ohio House of Representatives passed and sent to the Senate, legislation to reduce home heating costs for low income elderly or disabled persons.

The legislation, House Bill 230, is similar to legislation scuttled earlier this month by the minority caucus.

House Bill 230 would grant heating bill credits to householders whose total income does not exceed $7,000 per year and who are either at least 65 years of age or totally disabled. The bill is sponsored by Representative Dennis Eckart.

Wednesday, the House passed on to the Senate tax incentive legislation designed to encourage industries to use alternate fuels and recover waste energy.

The legislation, House Bill 467 sponsored by Representative Tom Carney, would exempt certain commercial energy equipment from sales, property, and corporate franchise taxes. Eligible equipment would include energy conversion facilities for converting to fuels other than natural gas or fuel oil and energy recovery systems for recovering waste energy.

PD Checks Pharmacy Burglary

The Circleville Police Department is investigating a reported burglary discovered Thursday morning at the Risch Drugstore on North Court Street.

According to the report, Harry Seurkamp, pharmacist at Risch's discovered a quantity of Valium missing when he started to fill a prescription Thursday morning.

Sgt. Larry Pontious of the Circleville Police Department stated that the subjects who entered the building did so by prying open a basement window on the southeastern side of the building and removing the entire window frame.

Taken in the burglary were two partial bottles of Valium and one partial bottle of Phenobarbital. The total value of the missing items was set at $80.

Woman Claims Rape, Assault

The Circleville Police reported an incident of apparent rape and assault in Pickaway County late Thursday night or early this morning.

According to the report, Sgt. Ken Henn found a woman walking east on W. Main St. at 4:34 a.m. this morning. She had no clothes, according to the report.

The woman, identified as Ms. Lorrie Ann Green, 18, of Columbus, told Sgt. Henn that she had been raped and assaulted by a white male, approximately five feet, six inches tall and weighing 130 pounds.

She was taken to Berger Hospital for examination, and the report stated that she appeared to have been struck about the face several times.

Ms. Green told Sgt. Henn that she had met the subject on Parsons Ave. in Columbus, and that he had driven her to Pickaway County. The incident took place on Route 22, just west of the Scioto River bridge.

After the alleged attack, the assailant took Ms. Green's clothing and her purse which contained $10 in cash, stated Henn's report.

The investigation was turned over to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

such as waste heat or steam. Also, equipment generating energy from waste materials would be eligible for the tax exemption.

In another energy development, the House Energy and Environment Committee has recommended the creation of an Ohio Department of Energy. The new department would be a cabinet-level department and would replace the existing Energy Resources and Development Agency. The department would have broader powers and responsibilities than the present agency in order to better manage Ohio's energy sources and supplies.

In other committee action the House Commerce and Labor Committee has been refining the public employee collective bargaining bill, Senate Bill 222.

The bill would permit public employees to bargain collectively with their employer concerning wages, hours, and conditions of employment. A State Employment Relations Board would be empowered to mediate any collective bargaining disputes. A limited right for some public employees to strike would be permitted if the collective bargaining and mediation procedures reach an impasse.

The bill would replace the outdated Ferguson Act which has proven to be ineffective in public employee-employer relations.

The full House will consider Senate Bill 222 next week.

Willie's Dillies

Anyone who did not see the All Star game Tuesday night really missed an impressive evening.

First of all — Yankee Stadium. Even with the recent remodeling job, you can still appreciate all the tradition and color associated with the famous park. Think of some of the famous games that have been played within those confines — and more than that, you "Old Timers", pause for a minute and think of the players. People like Ruth, Gehrig, DiMaggio, Mantle, and Ford and several others. They had quite a collection on the tube Tuesday night — people like "the Yankee Clipper" and "Say Hey" Willie Mays, and also Roy Campanella. And the game was dedicated to one of the best ever to play the national pastime — Jack Roosevelt Robinson.

But to come out of the history books and into the present, the annual All Star Game offers the cream of the crop year in and year out—the best in the business for the present. Can you imagine an everyday lineup with the likes of Steve Garvey, Joe Morgan, David Concepcion, Ron Cey, Greg Luzinski, George Foster, Dave Parker and Johnny Bench?

Oh, you're an American League fan? Okay then, in your lineup we'll have to put names like Rod Carew, Willie Randolph, George Brett, Rick Burleson, "Yaz", Richie Zisk, Fred Lynn, and "Pudge" Fisk. (Who ever started calling them the "junior circuit"?)

When they play the All Star game, I really could care less who wins, or how many times the American League has lost. The main purpose of the All Star Classic is for the fans to see all their favorites in action at once, and the players—they get a chance to get together for some fun, or if they don't make it they get three days off to rest.

We don't think the American League's pitching was that bad Tuesday night—we just think that the National League's hitting was better. Jim Palmer has shown time and again in the regular season what caliber of pitcher he is—and anyone that thinks he is not an All-Star because of an off night last Tuesday must not know much about baseball.

Our fearless forecast—we'd like to see Lee Trevino take all the marbles in the Canadian Open so everyone will quit trying to prematurely wash him up—if not "Super Mex", then we'll have to go with the Golden Bear. Jack could probably use the money anyway.

Until next time, have a nice day—be a good sport.

Piranhas Top Zanesville, To Win Sixth Straight

The Circleville Piranha Swim Team traveled to Zanesville last night to win their sixth consecutive league swim meet of the season by a score of 379-308.

Head coach Jim Shea stated that "the meet was a lot tougher than the score would indicate. Zanesville was "up" for the meet, it was in their pool, and we were swimming with between 20 to 30 per cent of our point swimmers gone for various reasons."

Circleville Swimmers won 13 of 20 relay events, and 24 to 54 individual events.

Many Bengals Backs Cause Fritts Trade

CINCINNATI (AP) — An overabundance of running backs made Stan Fritts expendable, according to Cincinnati Bengals General Manager Paul Brown.

The Bengals traded the third-year running back to the New Orleans Saints Thursday for an undisclosed draft choice.

Brown, who announced the trade, said, "Our offensive backfield is overloaded with personnel."

Fritts, 24 and a fourth-round draft choice in 1975, had knee problems a year ago when he rushed for 200 yards and three touchdowns in 47 carries. As a rookie, he was the No. 2 ground gainer on the club with 375 yards and led all ball carriers with eight touchdowns.

A 1,000-yard rusher at North Carolina State, Fritts was described by Brown as "a tremendous competitor and an outstanding short yardage rusher."

Brown added, "We made this move prior to going to training camp so we could give him a shot at making another team." The Bengals open training camp Friday.

Brown noted that the Bengals "are deep at the fullback position with the drafting of Pete Johnson and Mike Voight and returning veterans Boobie Clark and Tony Davis."

Johnson, the all-time scorer in Big 10 history, was a No. 2 draft choice, while Voight, a three-time 1,000-yard rusher from North Carolina, was a third round choice in the NFL draft last May.

A total of 335 players were chosen in the 1977 NFL draft and came from 130 schools.

Cricket's Chirp Aids Reuss

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer

For three days during the All-Star break, Jerry Reuss heard crickets chirp and the wind blow through the trees in a sleepy New England retreat.

Thursday night, he heard the crack of Al Oliver's bat and the wind of his pitches blowing by batters.

Both kinds of noises were significant to the Pittsburgh Pirate left-hander. The first provided needed therapy and the second a needed victory, as the Pirates beat the Cincinnati Reds 6-2.

"I stuck my feet in the Atlantic Ocean and washed away the first half of the season," said Reuss, talking about his dismal 4-10 record before Tuesday night's All-Star Game. "It seemed the farthest thing from my mind was pitching."

"I slept late, sat on the porch, heard the crickets chirp. These are things I don't hear during the baseball season."

Reuss allowed but six hits in one of his strongest performances of the season and had plenty of help from his teammates. The Pirate defense contributed three double plays and Oliver drove in a pair of runs.

Reuss also had some assistance from the fans in notching his 100th career victory. The Pirates broke open the game with three runs in the fifth, courtesy of a fan's umbrella.

Leadoff batter Frank Taveras hit a foul popup and Cincinnati first baseman Dan Driessen had a chance to catch it near the railing but the ball struck a bright blue umbrella and eluded him.

The Reds briefly argued that it was fan interference, but first base umpire Paul Pryor said the ball was in the stands when it hit the umbrella. After that incident, Taveras tripped to start the three-run rally.

Phillies 9, Giants 6

Pinch-hitter Jerry Martin's bases-loaded triple capped an eight-run sixth inning that carried Philadelphia over San Francisco.

The Giants had taken a 6-0 lead off winner Jim Lonborg, 43, on a grand slam homer by Gary Thomasson in the third and a two-run homer by Marc Hill in the fifth.

But then the Phillies sent 13 batters to the plate in the sixth, collecting six hits and four walks to take the lead.

Cubs 4, Braves 3

Bill Buckner's run-scoring pinch single in the bottom of the 12th lifted Chicago over Atlanta. With one out in the 12th, reliever Rick Camp, 5-2, walked both Manny Trillo and Joe Wallis before Buckner delivered his game-winning hit.

Camp took over for Phil Niekro at the start of the inning after Niekro had yielded seven hits and struck out eight in 11 innings. Paul Reuschel, 4-1, who followed starter Bill Bonham and Willie Hernandez to the mound was the winner.

Cardinals 4, Astros 0

Keith Hernandez socked a home run and Garry Templeton tripled and scored two runs, leading St. Louis over Houston behind Bob Forsch's three-hitter. The Cardinals made the most of four hits off Houston right-hander J.R. Richard, 9-7, while notching only their fifth triumph in 17 games.

Hernandez' eighth homer of the year came off Richard with two out in the second inning, giving St. Louis a 1-0 advantage. Templeton singled and eventually scored on Ted Simmons' grounder in the fourth and the Cardinals added two insurance runs in the sixth on Jerry Mumphrey's single, Templeton's triple and another Simmons grounder.

Forsch struck out two and walked

five en route to his fourth straight victory.

Expos 4, Dodgers 0

Steve Rogers fired a four-hitter and Tony Perez drove in three runs as Montreal blanked Los Angeles. Rogers, 10-8, recorded his fourth shutout of the season, tying him with Cincinnati's Tom Seaver for the league lead.

Steve Garvey's second-inning single, a single in the seventh by Reggie Smith and base hits by Johnny Oates and Bill Russell in the ninth were the only safeties off the Montreal righthander. Rick Rhoden, 10-7, lost his fourth game in a row for the Dodgers.

Padres 3, Mets 2

George Hendrick's basesloaded single off Skip Lockwood in the 10th inning lifted San Diego over New York. With one out, singles by Bill Almon and Mike Ivie and an intentional walk to Dave Winfield loaded the bases to set the stage for Hendrick's decisive hit.

San Diego reliever Rollie Fingers, 7-4, gained the victory.

The Mets, who outthit the Padres 13-7, missed a big opportunity in the 10th when Lee Mazzilli struck out with runners on second and third and Bruce Boisch later fanned with the bases loaded.

10-Year-Old All-Stars Selected

The Circleville 10-year-old All-Star team has been selected and is as follows: Greg Huffer, Scott Morrison, Mark Anderson, Barry McConnell, Gary Phifer, Mark Morrison, Eddie Emerine, Eddie Sims, Monte Dearth, Brett Keichner, Kevin Keaton, Aaron McPherson, Gary Bigham, and Robbie Harris.

The team's first game will be tomorrow in the Hilliard Tournament at 2 p.m.

SANDY KENNEY

Sandy Kenney, 17, became the first female manager-coach of a Little League team in Washington, Indiana. She has 16 boys and four girls, between the ages of eight and 11, on her team.

Sandy, who will be a senior at Washington High School, is the granddaughter of Ethel and Leslie Garrett, 621 East Mound St., Circleville, and the daughter of Jay and Nancy Kenney, former residents of Circleville.

Trevino's Putting Nabs Tourney Lead

OAKVILLE, Ont. (AP) — Lee Trevino was the first to predict that his first-round lead in the $225,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship would not stand up.

"It's like my little boy said," Trevino quoted. "There's two things that won't last: a dog that chases cars and a pro that misses greens."

Trevino missed more than his share of greens Thursday, but he saved things with what he called "the best putting round I've ever had."

"In all the years I've played golf, and I've played golf for a lot of years in a lot of tournaments, that's the best putting round I've ever had."

"I didn't shoot 67. I putted 67. From where I hit the ball, I should have had about a 72. And it would have been a good 72, not an easy one."

"I've got to start hitting the ball better if I hope to do anything."

Trevino, trying to rebuild his game following major back surgery last winter, one-putted 11 times and once holed a 45-footer to save par on his way to the five-under-par effort that put him one stroke in front of nine players tied at 68.

Heading that group was Jack Nicklaus, designed of the tough, hilly, leg-straining 7,090-yard Glen Abbey Golf Club course that is being played for the first time and will be a permanent site for this national championship.

Nicklaus, who has yet to win the Canadian title, shared the No. 2 spot with Bruce Lietzke and Tom Purtzer, each of whom had two eagles on his back nine, George Archer, Tom Kite, Mike Morley, George Cadle, Jimmy Wittenberg and rookie Jeff Mitchell.

Tom Weiskopf, winner of two of the last four Canadian national titles, was at 69, Al Geiberger at 70 and defending

Browns Happy At Player's Appearance

KENT, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns Coach Forrest Gregg says Robert Jackson, the Browns' top draft choice, has missed "some valuable time," but he's "very happy to have him in camp."

Jackson, a linebacker from Texas A&M, agreed to a five-year contract Thursday and was expected to join today's workouts at the Browns' rookie camp at Kent State University.

"I don't know how much he can do in the Saturday scrimmage," Gregg said, "but he might get a little action."

Gregg said the coaches would work with Jackson "to catch him up as fast as possible."

Terms of Jackson's contract were not disclosed, but it was reported to contain incentive clauses which will give him more money if he's a starter.

In 1959, Elroy Face, the crack Pittsburgh Pirate relief pitcher had a record of 18-1 for a percentage of .947.

Only two fillies have won the Belmont Stakes, Ruthless taking the first running in 1867 and Tanya scoring in 1905.

Willie's Dillies

By A BENCHWARMER

Anyone who did not see the All Star game Tuesday night really missed an impressive evening.

First of all — Yankee Stadium. Even with the recent remodeling job, you can still appreciate all the tradition and color associated with the famous park. Think of some of the famous games that have been played within those confines — and more than that, you "Old Timers", pause for a minute and think of the players. People like Ruth, Gehrig, DiMaggio, Mantle, and Ford and several others. They had quite a collection on the tube Tuesday night — people like "the Yankee Clipper" and "Say Hey" Willie Mays, and also Roy Campanella. And the game was dedicated to one of the best ever to play the national pastime — Jack Roosevelt Robinson.

But to come out of the history books and into the present, the annual All Star Game offers the cream of the crop year in and year out—the best in the business for the present. Can you imagine an everyday lineup with the likes of Steve Garvey, Joe Morgan, David Concepcion, Ron Cey, Greg Luzinski, George Foster, Dave Parker and Johnny Bench?

Oh, you're an American League fan? Okay then, in your lineup we'll have to put names like Rod Carew, Willie Randolph, George Brett, Rick Burleson, "Yaz", Richie Zisk, Fred Lynn, and "Pudge" Fisk. (Who ever started calling them the "junior circuit"?)

When they play the All Star game, I really could care less who wins, or how many times the American League has lost. The main purpose of the All Star Classic is for the fans to see all their favorites in action at once, and the players—they get a chance to get together for some fun, or if they don't make it they get three days off to rest.

We don't think the American League's pitching was that bad Tuesday night—we just think that the National League's hitting was better. Jim Palmer has shown time and again in the regular season what caliber of pitcher he is—and anyone that thinks he is not an All-Star because of an off night last Tuesday must not know much about baseball.

Our fearless forecast—we'd like to see Lee Trevino take all the marbles in the Canadian Open so everyone will quit trying to prematurely wash him up—if not "Super Mex", then we'll have to go with the Golden Bear. Jack could probably use the money anyway.

Until next time, have a nice day—be a good sport.

Cricket's Chirp Aids Reuss

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

For three days during the All-Star break, Jerry Reuss heard crickets chirp and the wind blow through the trees in a sleepy New England retreat.

Thursday night, he heard the crack of Al Oliver's bat and the wind of his pitches blowing by batters.

Both kinds of noises were significant to the Pittsburgh Pirate left-hander. The first provided needed therapy and the second a needed victory, as the Pirates beat the Cincinnati Reds 6-2.

"I stuck my feet in the Atlantic Ocean and washed away the first half of the season," said Reuss, talking about his dismal 4-10 record before Tuesday night's All-Star Game. "It seemed the farthest thing from my mind was pitching."

"I slept late, sat on the porch, heard the crickets chirp. These are things I don't hear during the baseball season."

Reuss allowed but six hits in one of his strongest performances of the season and had plenty of help from his teammates. The Pirate defense contributed three double plays and Oliver drove in a pair of runs.

Reuss also had some assistance from the fans in notching his 100th career victory. The Pirates broke open the game with three runs in the fifth, courtesy of a fan's umbrella.

Leadoff batter Frank Taveras hit a foul popup and Cincinnati first baseman Dan Driessen had a chance to catch it near the railing but the ball struck a bright blue umbrella and eluded him.

The Reds briefly argued that it was fan interference, but first base umpire Paul Pryor said the ball was in the stands when it hit the umbrella. After that incident, Taveras tripled to start the three-run rally.

Phillies 9, Giants 6

Pinch-hitter Jerry Martin's bases-loaded triple capped an eight-run sixth inning that carried Philadelphia over San Francisco.

The Giants had taken a 6-0 lead off winner Jim Lonborg, 43, on a grand slam homer by Gary Thomasson in the third and a two-run homer by Marc Hill in the fifth.

But then the Phillies sent 13 batters to the plate in the sixth, collecting six hits and four walks to take the lead.

Cubs 4, Braves 3

Bill Buckner's run-scoring pinch single in the bottom of the 12th lifted Chicago over Atlanta. With one out in the 12th, reliever Rick Camp, 5-2, walked both Manny Trillo and Joe Wallis before Buckner delivered his game-winning hit.

Camp took over for Phil Niekro at the start of the inning after Niekro had yielded seven hits and struck out eight in 11 innings. Paul Reuschel, 4-1, who followed starter Bill Bonham and Willie Hernandez to the mound was the winner.

Cardinals 4, Astros 0

Keith Hernandez socked a home run and Garry Templeton tripled and scored two runs, leading St. Louis over Houston behind Bob Forsch's three-hitter. The Cardinals made the most of four hits off Houston right-hander J.R. Richard, 9-7, while notching only their fifth triumph in 17 games.

Hernandez' eighth homer of the year came off Richard with two out in the second inning, giving St. Louis a 1-0 advantage. Templeton singled and eventually scored on Ted Simmons' grounder in the fourth and the Cardinals added two insurance runs in the sixth on Jerry Mumphrey's single, Templeton's triple and another Simmons grounder.

Forsch struck out two and walked

five en route to his fourth straight victory.

Expos 4, Dodgers 0

Steve Rogers fired a four-hitter and Tony Perez drove in three runs as Montreal blanked Los Angeles. Rogers, 10-8, recorded his fourth shutout of the season, tying him with Cincinnati's Tom Seaver for the league lead.

Steve Garvey's second-inning single, a single in the seventh by Reggie Smith and base hits by Johnny Oates and Bill Russell in the ninth were the only safeties off the Montreal righthander. Rick Rhoden, 10-7, lost his fourth game in a row for the Dodgers.

Padres 3, Mets 2

George Hendrick's basesloaded single off Skip Lockwood in the 10th inning lifted San Diego over New York. With one out, singles by Bill Almon and Mike Ivie and an intentional walk to Dave Winfield loaded the bases to set the stage for Hendrick's decisive hit. San Diego reliever Rollie Fingers, 7-4, gained the victory.

The Mets, who outlived the Padres 13-7, missed a big opportunity in the 10th when Lee Mazzilli struck out with runners on second and third and Bruce Boischair later fanned with the bases loaded.

10-Year-Old All-Stars Selected

The Circleville 10-year-old All-Star team has been selected and is as follows: Greg Huffer, Scott Morrison, Mark Anderson, Barry McConnell, Gary Phifer, Mark Morrison, Eddie Emerine, Eddie Sims, Monte Dearth, Brett Keichner, Kevin Keaton, Aaron McPherson, Gary Bigham, and Robbie Harris.

The team's first game will be tomorrow in the Hilliard Tournament at 2 p.m.

Piranhas Top Zanesville, To Win Sixth Straight

The Circleville Piranha Swim Team traveled to Zanesville last night to win their sixth consecutive league swim meet of the season by a score of 379-308.

Head coach Jim Shea stated that "the meet was a lot tougher than the score would indicate. Zanesville was "up" for the meet, it was in their pool, and we were swimming with between 20 to 30 per cent of our point swimmers gone for various reasons."

Circleville Swimmers won 13 of 20 relay events, and 24 to 54 individual events.

Winning three individual events

Many Bengals Backs Cause Fritts Trade

CINCINNATI (AP) — An overabundance of running backs made Stan Fritts expendable, according to Cincinnati Bengals General Manager Paul Brown.

The Bengals traded the third-year running back to the New Orleans Saints Thursday for an undisclosed draft choice.

Brown, who announced the trade, said, "Our offensive backfield is overloaded with personnel."

Fritts, 24 and a fourth-round draft choice in 1975, had knee problems a year ago when he rushed for 200 yards and three touchdowns in 47 carries. As a rookie, he was the No. 2 ground gainer on the club with 375 yards and led all ball carriers with eight touchdowns.

A 1,000-yard rusher at North Carolina State, Fritts was described by Brown as "a tremendous competitor and an outstanding short yardage rusher."

Brown added, "We made this move prior to going to training camp so we could give him a shot at making another team." The Bengals open training camp Friday.

Brown noted that the Bengals "are deep at the fullback position with the drafting of Pete Johnson and Mike Voight and returning veterans Boobie Clark and Tony Davis."

Johnson, the all-time scorer in Big 10 history, was a No. 2 draft choice, while Voight, a three-time 1,000-yard rusher from North Carolina, was a third round choice in the NFL draft last May.

A total of 335 players were chosen in the 1977 NFL draft and came from 130 schools.

were: Jeff Davies, Erin Hardin, and Cindy Sparks.

With two first were: Marsena Waldeck, John Metzler, and Mike McCready.

Single winners were: Christine Elsea, Bob Shaffer, Lavonna Weaver, Laurie Kazmierczak, Norma Moore, Jill McCain, Lee Huskey, Ben Blair, and Tim McCready.

Circleville swimmers also earned 30 seconds and 27 thirds in the individual events.

The Piranhas will finish their current swim season next Thursday, when they travel to Chillicothe for a dual meet with the only other undefeated team in the league. "The winner of the meet next Thursday will be League Champions" said Shea, "and I have the feeling that our kids want that title again. After all winning it for the past three straight years makes you want to keep on winning it."

Next weeks meet will be held in the new Chillicothe Municipal Pool in Yocatanza Park starting at 5:30 p.m. A good following of Circleville Fans would be appreciated.

Jury Begins Deliberations In Noll Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A six-person federal court jury was expected to start deliberation today of George Atkinson's $2 million slander suit against the Pittsburgh Steelers and their coach, Chuck Noll.

On Thursday, the jury was told there was no doubt Noll was trying to damage Atkinson when he linked the Oakland Raiders' veteran defensive back to a "criminal element" in professional football.

"Mr. Noll was nobody's dummy," attorney Willie Brown said in final arguments. "He knew what he was saying. There is no question he had in mind doing serious damage to Mr. Atkinson's reputation. He showed absolute reckless disregard as to what might happen to Mr. Atkinson in his career."

James MacInnis, the Steelers' attorney, said Noll's explanation of what he meant by "criminal element" — those who wantonly break the rules — shows that his words were "aptly applied and correctly used."

Atkinson is seeking a million dollars each from the Steelers and Noll because of remarks the Steelers' coach made following a Steeler-Raider game last September.

TRAINER'S CLINIC — A trainer's clinic was held over the past weekend at Valley Vista Sports Camp. The participants received professional instruction in the fundamentals of athletic training, as well as several methods of reconditioning injuries. Royals Surging In AL West

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The Kansas City Royals, seeking another division title, keep closing in on first place in the American League West. The expansion Seattle Mariners, hopeful of finishing out of the cellar, are all the way up to sixth and wouldn't mind staying there.

The Royals sliced another half-game off the lead of the idle Chicago White Sox Thursday night with an 8-1 rout of the Detroit Tigers and trail the division leaders by just two games. Meanwhile, the Mariners edged Oakland 4-3 and dropped the A's into the basement, one-half game behind Seattle.

"It's easy to get someplace, but it's tougher to stay there," said Seattle Manager Darrell Johnson, whose Mariners have been in last place almost steadily since the start of the season. "It's kind of like getting to the major leagues. A lot of players get there, but not that many stick around."

Al Cowens had four hits and drove in five runs in Kansas City's triumph while Paul Splittorff fired a four-hitter for his third complete game in 22 starts. The victory was the seventh in a row for the Royals, longest winning streak of the season for the defending champs.

Mariners 4, A's 3
Ruppert Jones and Julio Cruz drove in two runs apiece for Seattle while Glenn Abbott defeated his former Oakland teammates for the third time in four decisions. Abbott lost a shutout bid in the seventh when Wayne Gross hit a two-run homer. Mitchell Page homered in the ninth for Oakland's final run.

However, Jones ripped his 18th homer to get the Mariners started in the second inning and his sacrifice fly in the third made it 2-0. Cruz delivered the other two runs with singles in the fifth and sixth.

Red Sox 11-2, Indians 4-8
Home runs by Andre Thornton, John Lowenstein and Bruce Bochte highlighted the Indians' victory while Butch Hobson slammed a three-run homer for his second hit in Boston's nine-run seventh inning that decided the opener.

Jim Bibby was clipped for Jim Rice's 24th homer but still won the nightcap with help from Jim Kern. Larvell Blanks' two-run homer off Luis Tiant gave the Indians a 3-2 lead in the seventh inning of the opener but a single by George Scott touched off the Red Sox' nine-run explosion in the bottom of the inning. Tiant went seven innings and fanned eight, including Rico Carty in the fourth for the veteran hurler's 2,000th career strikeout.

Brewers 0-5, Yankees 7-4
The Brewers, three outs away from being shut out in both ends of the doubleheader, rallied with four runs in the ninth inning of the nightcap and then won it in the 10th on rookie Dick Davis' two-out bloop single. The Yankees took the opener as Catfish Hunter fired a five-hitter for his first shutout of the season and Graig Nettles hit a three-run homer.

Twins 3, Angels 2
Bobby Bonds homered off Dave Goltz as the Angels scored twice in the top of the first but Lyman Bostock tied it against Nolan Ryan with a tworun triple in the bottom of the first and scored on Larry Hisle's two-out bunt single.

'The Bird' Slated To Test Shoulder

DETROIT (AP) — Pitcher Mark "The Bird" Fidrych of the Detroit Tigers is scheduled to test his ailing shoulder with some light throwing Monday.

Manager Ralph Houk said Thursday he doesn't have any rehabilitation program for his star right-hander yet. However, he said, doctors think Fidrych's sore shoulder "is a little better."

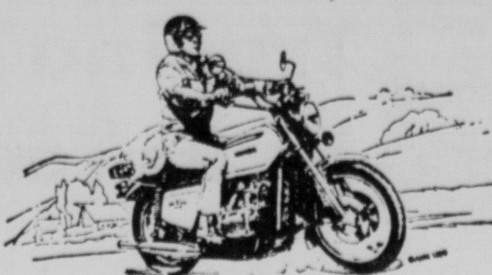

"They seem to think it's an inflammation of a small muscle in the shoulder area," Houk said.

He said he would not consider using Fidrych as a reliever for a brief test. —

Royals Surging In AL West

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The Kansas City Royals, seeking another division title, keep closing in on first place in the American League West. The expansion Seattle Mariners, hopeful of finishing out of the cellar, are all the way up to sixth and wouldn't mind staying there.

The Royals sliced another half-game off the lead of the idle Chicago White Sox Thursday night with an 8-1 rout of the Detroit Tigers and trail the division leaders by just two games. Meanwhile, the Mariners edged Oakland 4-3 and dropped the A's into the basement, one-half game behind Seattle.

"It's easy to get someplace, but it's tougher to stay there," said Seattle Manager Darrell Johnson, whose Mariners have been in last place almost steadily since the start of the season. "It's kind of like getting to the major leagues. A lot of players get there, but not that many stick around."

Al Cowens had four hits and drove in five runs in Kansas City's triumph while Paul Splitteroff fired a four-hitter for his third complete game in 22 starts. The victory was the seventh in a row for the Royals, longest winning streak of the season for the defending champs.

Mariners 4, A's 3

Ruppert Jones and Julio Cruz drove in two runs apiece for Seattle while Glenn Abbott defeated his former Oakland teammates for the third time in four decisions. Abbott lost a shutout bid in the seventh when Wayne Gross hit a two-run homer. Mitchell Page homered in the ninth for Oakland's final run.

However, Jones ripped his 18th homer to get the Mariners started in the second inning and his sacrifice fly in the third made it 2-0. Cruz delivered the other two runs with singles in the fifth and sixth.

Red Sox 11-2, Indians 4-8

Home runs by Andre Thornton, John Lowenstein and Bruce Bochte highlighted the Indians' victory while Butch Hobson slammed a three-run homer for his second hit in Boston's nine-run seventh inning that decided the opener.

Jim Bibby was clipped for Jim Rice's 24th homer but still won the nightcap with help from Jim Kern. Larvell Blanks' two-run homer off Luis Tiant gave the Indians a 3-2 lead in the seventh inning of the opener but a single by George Scott touched off the Red Sox' nine-run explosion in the bottom of the inning. Tiant went seven innings and fanned eight, including Rico Carty in the fourth for the veteran hurler's 2,000th career strikeout.

Brewers 0-5, Yankees 7-4

The Brewers, three outs away from being shut out in both ends of the doubleheader, rallied with four runs in the ninth inning of the nightcap and then won it in the 10th on rookie Dick Davis' two-out bloop single. The Yankees took the opener as Catfish Hunter fired a five-hitter for his first shutout of the season and Graig Nettles hit a three-run homer.

Cecil Cooper, who ignited the Brewers' four-run rally with a leadoff homer in the ninth against Ed Figueroa, led off the 10th with a single off Dick Tidrow, his fourth hit of the game. One out later, he stole second when catcher Fran Healy was unable to hold the ball on a pitchout. After Tidrow fanned Jamie Quirk, Davis

Another rookie, pitcher Sam Hinds, kept the Brewers in the game after they fell behind 4-0 in the first inning by hurling 71-3 scoreless innings, allowing just two singles.

Twins 3, Angels 2

Bobby Bonds homered off Dave Goltz as the Angels scored twice in the top of the first but Lyman Bostock tied it against Nolan Ryan with a tworun triple in the bottom of the first and scored on Larry Hisle's two-out bunt single.

'The Bird' Slated To Test Shoulder

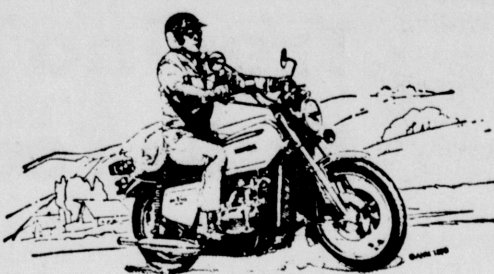

DETROIT (AP) — Pitcher Mark "The Bird" Fidrych of the Detroit Tigers is scheduled to test his ailing shoulder with some light throwing Monday.

Manager Ralph Houk said Thursday he doesn't have any rehabilitation program for his star right-hander yet. However, he said, doctors think Fidrych's sore shoulder "is a little better."

"They seem to think it's an inflammation of a small muscle in the shoulder area," Houk said.

He said he would not consider using Fidrych as a reliever for a brief test. —

Being Reggie Not Easy Task

NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't easy being Reggie Jackson.

Good looking, intelligent, articulate and rich, Jackson should have the key to this city. Instead he is being locked out. The fans boo him, his teammates don't understand him and his manager wants to punch him.

Insulted at home games and taunted on the road, he is a man without a city. As the object of hate wherever he goes, the parallel with Jackie Robinson 30 years ago seems valid.

Robinson was not accepted by many players and fans because he was the first black. In some circles, color has a bearing on why Jackson's fan club does not need a big room for its meetings. But for the average fan who looks at statistics rather than skin, the criticism goes deeper. Jackson is not playing or acting like a $2.9 million player.

"Nine out of 10 guys would love his statistics," said Sal Bando of Milwaukee, Jackson's friend dating back to their championship days in Oakland. "I wouldn't sell him short. With all the pressure he's under, I think he's having an outstanding year."

Bando, a free agent, signed in mellow Milwaukee, the center of middle America. Expectations run lower there, and Bando, who signed a $1.4 million contract for five years, says he has not been booed at home—even though he has had his troubles at the plate.

Jackson, batting .286 with 16 home runs, 50 runs batted in and a team-leading nine gamewinning hits, was the only Yankee booed in Thursday night's doubleheader with the Brewers. He has now come to accept negativism from the fans.

The low point may have come Tuesday night. Booed in his own ballpark in the All-Star Game, Jackson tried winning over the fans—as he often does—by signing autographs late into the night. Weary and mentally drained, Jackson excused himself from the autograph session.

Jackson, who was with his parents and girl friend, then was subjected to a stream of profanities from some of the kids. Jackson couldn't take it anymore. He chased one 13-year-old, but never caught him, he said.

The teen-ager claimed he was roughed up by Jackson, a charge that has been refuted by several eyewitnesses. A good deed by Jackson had turned into another nightmare.

But Jackson hasn't been entirely blameless. In his first season with the American League champions, Jackson was quoted in Sport magazine as saying only he could be the team leader, not Thurman Munson, last year's Most Valuable Player in the AL and the team captain.

"The Munson article was out of bounds," Jackson now admits. "Everything else I have done, I would do the same."

That apparently includes the time he hit a home run and refused to shake his teammates' hands. And last month, Yankees Manager Billy Martin and Jackson had words, then almost got into a fight during a nationally televised game in Boston.

Two-Year-Old Star Scratched At Scioto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jodevin, last year's 2-year-old trotter of the year, has been scratched from his first season start Friday night in an $8,000 race at Scioto Downs.

A track spokesman said Jodevin, which has been idled this year by illness and injury, was scratched by a veterinarian for recurring ankle problems.

Last year Jodevin and his trainer-driver, Joe O'Brien, won 20 races and $150,000 trotting to a swift mile of 1:59.

Lake Erie Walleye Fishing Off To Spectacular Start

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — Lake Erie walleye fishing is off to its most spectacular start in memory. Limit catches of 10 fish are common. Charter boat skippers, the pros, are bringing in limit catches virtually every time out, often well before exhausting the normal eight hours of a paid trip.

Four of us spent six hours aboard guide Jim Feltman's 26-foot inboard, the Reef Runner, on a recent Saturday. We returned at least a dozen small fish to the water and still came in with a four-man limit of 40 walleyes. The largest was about five pounds. Together they weighed 104 pounds and dressed out to about 40 pounds of fillets.

Walleye fishing was good last year but it is fantastic by comparison so far in 1977. Moreover, several aspects are markedly different than in 1976.

Normally walleyes or pickerel begin showing up in late June in the Niagara, Crib and Toussaint Reef areas of Western Lake Erie. They then tend to move east in July and August to the North Bass Island region and into Canadian waters north of that.

This year the action got under way in late May and by June had reached levels usually reserved for the best fishing months of July and August.

Instead of shifting to the east, walleyes still remain widely scattered in the areas of West Sister Island, Niagara and Crib reefs.

Action seems to slow when storms and high winds roll the water but within days thereafter limit catches become the rule for anybody who knows the basics about Lake Erie walleye fishing.

Unfortunately for many, the basics include access to a stable boat for offshore fishing. That is one reason why, although the walleye clearly is Lake Erie's number one glamour fish, only about 8 per cent of all anglers using the big lake annually say they specifically go after walleye.

As the annual sportfishing harvest of walleyes has increased, so has the number of charter boats available for hire. Most of the old-timers are excellent skippers. Some of the newer guides are cashing in on the demand for charters but they have a lot to learn.

Charter rates increased this year from a rough average of $125 for an eight-hour trip for up to six fishermen to $165. Most well-known skippers are booked solid on weekends, although some have mid-week dates available.

The Ohio Division of Wildlife, Box 650, Sandusky, Ohio, can provide a free list of licensed charter boat skippers.

The dramatic upsurge in walleye fishing success is the result of many factors. Sport fishermen are included to believe that a ban on commercial netting of walleyes explains the improvement in recent years.

Right now, though, not many are debating the politics of the situation. They are too busy fishing.

Money No Concern To Former Bronco

MOULTRIE, Ga. (AP) — Talk not of money hungry athletes when discussing former University of Georgia quarterback Ray Goff.

Goff gave the Denver Broncos a $1,000 refund when it became apparent that he was not going to make the National Football League team.

"My dad always taught me not to take things for nothing," Goff said. "A lot of people think I'm crazy to give that much money back. But I didn't go up there looking for something free. I didn't do anything to earn a $1,000."

So now he is back in Moultrie—with a gas station he and a friend opened this week—and planning to help coach the Georgia football teams this year.

Goff led the Bulldogs to 9-3 and 10-2 seasons the last two years, but he was a running quarterback and not noted for his passing. Thus he was ignored in the NFL draft and made it to Denver as a free agent, signing for the standard $1,000 free agent bonus.

After five days in the Broncos' training camp, it became apparent that his passing was not up to NFL standards. Denver's coaches told him to work on his passing or try and make the team as a defensive back.

"I thought maybe the Lord was trying to tell me something," Goff said about the possible move to defensive back.

So Goff told General Manager Fred Gehrke he was leaving—and returned the $1,000.

"I've never seen a player quite like him," Gehrke said.

Goff did get a check—$200—as pay for the five days he spent in camp.

CAT FISHERMAN — Willie Williams, 190 Nicholas Drive, landed three large catfish in Big Darby Creek last week. The largest one weighed about 18 pounds and was taken on a pole while the other two were caught on a bank line. Williams was using soft craws for bait.

Relief from the hot and humid weather that has gripped Ohio for many days finally has drifted into the state on the heels of a cold front.

The National Weather Service says Ohio can expect a clear and cool night tonight, with a low in the mid to upper 50s.

Sunny and pleasant weather is expected tomorrow, with highs in the mid 80s.

Today the highs were expected to be in the upper 70s and low 80s, a welcomed relief from the mid 90s that were experienced earlier in the week.

The chance of rain is expected to be near zero tonight and tomorrow.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Relief from the hot and humid weather that has gripped Ohio for many days finally has drifted into the state on the heels of a cold front.

The National Weather Service says Ohio can expect a clear and cool night tonight, with a low in the mid to upper 50s.

Sunny and pleasant weather is expected tomorrow, with highs in the mid 80s.

Today the highs were expected to be in the upper 70s and low 80s, a welcomed relief from the mid 90s that were experienced earlier in the week.

The chance of rain is expected to be near zero tonight and tomorrow.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You should encounter few obstacles now, but be on guard against "little" errors, miscalculations.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Influences somewhat restrictive. Neither speak nor act in haste lest you have cause for regret. Maintain high principles, but avoid dissension, antagonism.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Avoid the illogical and close your eyes to the dubious schemes of others - no matter how attractively they may be presented. Let your head rule your heart.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Some complexities indicated. In all situations, be sure you have the facts before making decisions. Travel and outdoor interests favored.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Employ the techniques successfully used in prior efforts. But do not hesitate to update plans and vitalize your approach. Tact in personal affairs!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Better-than-average influences, but there's still plenty of work to be done in various areas - to smooth out kinks, coordinate forces in better fashion.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some confusion in day's early hours can be cleared up if you just roll with the punches. Trying to crash your way through will only worsen matters.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Stars now promise benefits from past efforts as well as surprising achievement in some presently stubborn area. You can disarm others by a frank approach to issues.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You now have an above-average chance to get a footing in an area long sought, a project long desired. But don't rush in without preparation. Discuss angles with experts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Sudden, unexpected action, abrupt speech or unconventional action could get you into difficulties and disturb the smooth sailing you could otherwise have now. Be alert, discreet.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Especially favored now: outdoor pursuits and children's activities. Combine a sense of humor with maximum effort to make this a memorable day.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A day of mixed influences. Some uncertainties may prove irksome, but don't fight shadows. Clear thinking needed.

YOU BORN TODAY are a person of strong feelings and the ability to carry out your very progressive ideas - IF you will try to curb your doubts and fears. Too often, lack of confidence in yourself and trepidation over what others think of your efforts keep you from taking the steps necessary to the lofty attainment which CAN be yours. You are a humanitarian at heart and are extremely sympathetic to your fellowmen; would make an excellent physician or nurse and could especially succeed in healing mental disorders. You write well and would make a fine journalist; could also make a name for yourself in the law or in the fields of interior decorating or designing. Birthdate of: Charlotte Cushman, Amer. actress; James (Cardinal) Gibbons, Amer. clergyman.

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gary Owens, the noted "Laugh-In" announcing alumnus, has hosted the nighttime version of "The Gong Show." But no more. He's bidding it adieu for fresh fields of endeavor.

Such as a TV comedy pilot called "The Gary Owens Sex and Violence Family Hour." And a college textbook on radio. And a "Lunatic's Book of World Records," which he's now just finishing.

The latter tome, he said, notes such things as "Hugh O'Brien's birthstone is lint" and that "a family of midgits in San Francisco lived in Karl Malden's nose for seven months."

Next September, Owens will be a semiregular in a new CBS Saturday morning show, "Wacko," which features slapstick skits, buffonery and persiflage.

"I'm not certain what I'm doing, but I think I walk around with a bannana through my head and rebuke people," he said. "I think I'm the token rebuker on the show."

Chris Bearde, producer of the show and a veteran Owens observer, elucidated. He said Gary will appear in, say, a scene where Batman and Robin are about to do battle with two bad guys.

Then, he said, Owens will announce that "because this is the nonviolent network, we can't show you the fight. But we can let you hear it." Then viewers will hear sounds of biff, bam and ouch.

But they'll see a lovely pastoral scene of flying birds. It may seem weird, but Mr. Owens, of Mitchell, S.D., has been that way every since coming here nearly 16 years ago to write and speak on the old "Bullwinkle" show and be a disc jockey.

Owens, in radio 20 years, most of it at station KMPC here, prefers not to think of himself as a disc jockey. He calls himself a josh dickey. That's the way his brainpan works.

His radio world contains a few unusuals - rumored to be him in verbal multi-such as Clinton S. Feemish the Third. Clinton tap dances to the accompaniment of the daily weather forecast.

Strategy

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — O.J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills says he was the first running back in the National Football League to line up seven yards behind the line of scrimmage.

"I wanted more time to see what was developing ahead of me," he explained. "I sometimes make moves behind the line that help linemen with their blocks. I have always thought it's not how quick you can get to the line but how quick you can get through it."

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gary Owens, the noted "Laugh-In" announcing alumnus, has hosted the nighttime version of "The Gong Show." But no more. He's bidding it adieu for fresh fields of endeavor.

Such as a TV comedy pilot called "The Gary Owens Sex and Violence Family Hour." And a college textbook on radio. And a "Lunatic's Book of World Records," which he's now just finishing.

The latter tome, he said, notes such things as "Hugh O'Brien's birthstone is lint" and that "a family of midgets in San Francisco lived in Karl Malden's nose for seven months."

Next September, Owens will be a semiregular in a new CBS Saturday morning show, "Wacko," which features slapstick skits, buffonery and persiflage.

"I'm not certain what I'm doing, but I think I walk around with a banana through my head and rebuke people," he said. "I think I'm the token rebuker on the show."

Chris Bearde, producer of the show and a veteran Owens observer, elucidated. He said Gary will appear in, say, a scene where Batman and Robin are about to do battle with two bad guys.

Then, he said, Owens will announce that "because this is the nonviolent network, we can't show you the fight. But we can let you hear it." Then viewers will hear sounds of biff, bam and ouch.

But they'll see a lovely pastoral scene of flying birds. It may seem weird, but Mr. Owens, of Mitchell, S.D., has been that way every since coming here nearly 16 years ago to write and speak on the old "Bullwinkle" show and be a disc jockey.

Owens, in radio 20 years, most of it at station KMPC here, prefers not to think of himself as a disc jockey. He calls himself a josh dickey. That's the way his brainpan works.

His radio world contains a few unusuals - rumored to be him in verbal mufti-such as Clinton S. Feemish the Third. Clinton tap dances to the accompaniment of the daily weather forecast.

Strategy
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — O.J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills says he was the first running back in the National Football League to line up seven yards behind the line of scrimmage.

"I wanted more time to see what was developing ahead of me," he explained. "I sometimes make moves behind the line that help linemen with their blocks. I have always thought it's not how quick you can get to the line but how quick you can get through it."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You should encounter few obstacles now, but be on guard against "little" errors, miscalculations.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Influences somewhat restrictive. Neither speak nor act in haste lest you have cause for regret. Maintain high principles, but avoid dissension, antagonism.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Avoid the illogical and close your eyes to the dubious schemes of others - no matter how attractively they may be presented. Let your head rule your heart.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Some complexities indicated. In all situations, be sure you have the facts before making decisions. Travel and outdoor interests favored.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Employ the techniques successfully used in prior efforts. But do not hesitate to update plans and vitalize your approach. Tact in personal affairs!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Better-than-average influences, but there's still plenty of work to be done in various areas - to smooth out kinks, coordinate forces in better fashion.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some confusion in day's early hours can be cleared up if you just roll with the punches. Trying to crash your way through will only worsen matters.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Stars now promise benefits from past efforts as well as surprising achievement in some presently stubborn area. You can disarm others by a frank approach to issues.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You now have an above-average chance to get a footing in an area long sought, a project long desired. But don't rush in without preparation. Discuss angles with experts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Sudden, unexpected action, abrupt speech or unconventional could get you into difficulties and disturb the smooth sailing you could otherwise have now. Be alert, discreet.

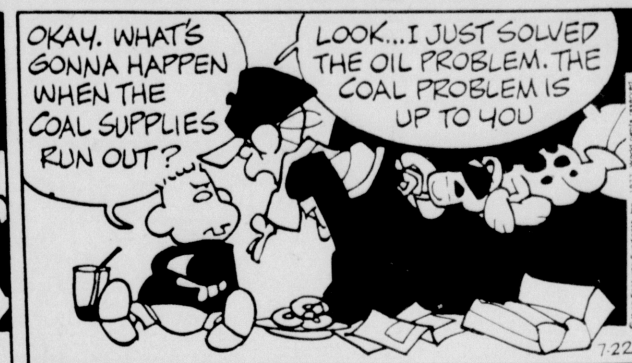

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Especially favored now: outdoor pursuits and children's activities. Combine a sense of humor with maximum effort to make this a memorable day.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A day of mixed influences. Some uncertainties may prove irksome, but don't fight shadows. Clear thinking needed.

YOU BORN TODAY are a person of strong feelings and the ability to carry out your very progressive ideas - IF you will try to curb your doubts and fears. Too often, lack of confidence in yourself and trepidation over what others think of your efforts keep you from taking the steps necessary to the lofty attainment which CAN be yours.

You are a humanitarian at heart and are extremely sympathetic to your fellowmen; would make an excellent physician or nurse and could especially succeed in healing mental disorders. You write well and would make a fine journalist; could also make a name for yourself in the law or in the fields of interior decorating or designing. Birthdate of: Charlotte Cushman, Amer. actress; James (Cardinal) Gibbons, Amer. clergyman.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
I S L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Merger Hinges On Money

NEW YORK (AP) — The proposed merger of the National Hockey League and the World Hockey Association may hinge on the financial stability of the WHA clubs applying for membership in the NHL.

Amid reports that at least eight NHL teams are prepared to vote against an accommodation of WHA teams, thus defeating a motion for merger, WHA President Bill MacFarland said Thursday that eight of his league's teams were working on applications to join the NHL.

MacFarland told a Canadian newspaper that Quebec, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Calgary, New England, Cincinnati, Houston and Birmingham "should have everything completed by next week" in order to file for NHL membership.

"The NHL is most concerned with the financial stability of our clubs," MacFarland said. "Although the teams in the WHA lost money last season, the owners and principals making the applications are on a sound financial base."

"The markets in the WHA cities are acceptable, but some of the buildings are short of NHL standards. Quebec, New England and Winnipeg will be adding seats over the next three years to bring them up to the 12,000-seat minimum required by the NHL. Right now, Calgary's position is unclear."

So is the NHL's. During meetings last month in Chicago, the league appeared nearly unanimous in its approval of a merger. At a meeting in Toronto earlier this month, that support seemed to waver and a decision on accommodation of at least six WHA clubs was put off indefinitely.

Now, the fact-finding committee established to investigate the merger is making further studies.

An NHL spokesman dismissed reports that the merger was a dead issue, calling those reports "premature." The NHL Board of Governors is expected to convene in the next few weeks and hear the committee's report.

The eight NHL teams said to be against merger are Boston, Los Angeles, Vancouver, Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Minnesota and the New York Islanders.

Boeing Looks To New Era Of Prosperity

SEATTLE (AP) — Diversification once was its watchword, but Boeing Co., grandfather of the world's airline fleets, believes a new era of prosperity will ride aboard a soaring commercial airplane market.

Despite early diversification efforts that included such projects as "people movers," computer services and hydrofoils, Boeing's prospects remain attached to the passenger aircraft.

Boeing, which traditionally has held more than half the world's jetliner market, sells far more commercial planes than Lockheed and McDonnell Douglas, its main competitors, combined.

"Diversification has not been notably successful for Boeing," says John L. MacKenzie, director of research for Foster & Marshall, a Seattle-based brokerage house. Boeing's attitude, says MacKenzie, has been "let's stick to the things that we really know and understand and do well at."

Other brokers and Boeing officials agree.

Boeing is "the best positioned commercial aircraft manufacturer with the greatest amount of operating leverage in the business," says Bear Stearns & Co., a New York brokerage.

And speaking recently to securities analysts in New York, Chairman T. A. Wilson said the company expects only 12 per cent of its business not to involve airplanes during the next 10 years.

"The impact of our other programs is not yet great," says company spokesman Pete Bush. "But these programs get more publicity for sales volume than traditional ones."

Boeing turned somewhat away from aircraft programs early in the 1970s,

Two Business Courses Offered At OU Branch

The Ohio University Lancaster Campus is offering two business courses for the second summer session.

Ethics for Business and Industry (Phil. 330) will provide the essential theoretical foundation in ethics, but its thrust will be toward practical problem solving in the gray areas of employer-employee relations, responsibility of business to the community and the proper balance of interest of the firm with personal integrity.

It is an ideal elective course for majors in business administration or for persons already established in business or industry. Five credit hours will be given for the class scheduled Monday, Wednesday and Thursdays from 7 to 9:45 p.m.

A Small Business Administration course starts July 26. It meets on Tuesday and Thursday 7 to 10:20 p.m., for four credit hours.

Topics to be discussed are the place and role of the small business firms, problems and opportunities involved in running a small business and their competitive considerations.

It is designed for business students and owners, managers and employers of retailing, manufacturing and service businesses.

For more information, call 654-6711. Registration for both classes are now being accepted.

Birth Control Trend Eliminating Pill Use

NEW YORK (AP) - Sterilization of both sexes has become so popular that it now rivals the pill and is the most commonly used method of birth control among couples married 10 years or more, according to a study.

A study of 3,403 married white men and women indicated that about 6.8 million couples had chosen surgical sterilization to prevent unwanted birth, compared to 7.1 million wives using the pill. An additional 1.1 million persons were sterilized for medical reasons.

The survey, conducted in 1975, is the fourth in a series of National Fertility Studies conducted at Princeton University. It was released Thursday.

The percentage of married couples who use sterilization for birth control almost quadrupled in 10 years, jumping from 8.8 per cent in 1965, to 16 per cent in 1970 and to 31.3 per cent in 1975, the survey said.

The survey indicated that the pill was still predominant among the young and newly married, while sterilization was more prevalent among those married 10 years or more as well as among couples who have had all the children they intend to have.

The use of condoms dropped by half between 1965 and 1975 and the use of diaphragms declined slightly, the survey said.

Intrauterine devices, or IUDs, gained in popularity between 1965 and 1973, but declined in use in the following two years. The researchers suggested that publicity about the hazards of the Dalkon shield (IUD) may have frightened women about IUDs in general.

The survey indicated that female sterilization has been increasing a bit more rapidly than male sterilization, but the percentage of marriages where the male was sterilized was about the same as where the female was sterilized.

The study was conducted by Princeton University professors Charles F. Westoff, who is director of the institutions' Office of Population Research, and by Norman B. Ryder, faculty research associate in the office. It was funded by the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development.

Their conclusions were drawn from data gathered in interviews with white women who had been married by age 25. The women had been married only once to men who also had been married only once and for more than five but fewer than 25 years.

Employment plummeted to about 38,000, but Boeing has come back and now has more than 60,000 workers.

Among the diversification efforts have been Boeing Computer Services, which has more than 1,500 customers; Boeing Engineering and Construction, which makes concrete installations at nuclear sites, a Boeing research effort into orbiting solar power stations, and efforts to develop the "jetfoil," a passenger hydrofoil.

The use of condoms dropped by half between 1965 and 1975 and the use of diaphragms declined slightly, the survey said.

Intrauterine devices, or IUDs, gained in popularity between 1965 and 1973, but declined in use in the following two years. The researchers suggested that publicity about the hazards of the Dalkon shield (IUD) may have frightened women about IUDs in general.

The survey indicated that female sterilization has been increasing a bit more rapidly than male sterilization, but the percentage of marriages where the male was sterilized was about the same as where the female was sterilized.

The study was conducted by Princeton University professors Charles F. Westoff, who is director of the institutions' Office of Population Research, and by Norman B. Ryder, faculty research associate in the office. It was funded by the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development.

Their conclusions were drawn from data gathered in interviews with white women who had been married by age 25. The women had been married only once to men who also had been married only once and for more than five but fewer than 25 years.
